

VOICES OF LAMENT CONTRIBUTORS

BETHANY RIVERA MOLINAR is a fronteriza Chicana living and working in El Paso, Texas. She is the executive director of Ciudad Nueva Community Outreach and serves on the board of the Christian Community Development Association. Bethany is passionate about faith-based community development and worshipping God with mind, body, and spirit. Instagram: @bethanyriveramolinar

CAROLINA HINOJOSA-CISNEROS is a Tejana, Chicana, and Mujerista writer and poet from San Antonio, Texas. She is a member of the board of directors for Arts, Religion, Culture (ARC). In her work, Carolina explores storytelling, faith, and social justice. cisneroscafe.wixsite.com/carolina

DENNAË PIERRE is the executive director of the Surge Network and co-director of City to City North America. She serves at Roosevelt Community Church, a multiethnic church in downtown Phoenix. Dennaë is Latina and grew up in a mixed-culture home that introduced her to the importance of bridging cultures.

GRACE P. CHO is a Korean American writer, poet, speaker, and the editorial manager at (in)courage. She creates space for people to be known, nurtured, and challenged through her work and desires to elevate Women of Color's voices in the publishing industry. gracepcho.com; Instagram: @gracepcho

IFUEKO FEX OGBOMO, alias Lady InspiroLogos, is a self-employed Nigerian writer, poet, performing artist, author, and sickle cell activist. For her internationally acclaimed work in the performing arts, she was classified as an "Alien of Extraordinary Ability" and awarded United States permanent residency in 2017. She enjoys sharing the gospel through storytelling. ifuekoogbomo.com; Instagram and Twitter: @inspirologos

JENNY YANG is the senior vice president of Advocacy and Policy at World Relief, where she provides oversight for all advocacy initiatives and policy positions for the organization and leads the organization's public relations efforts. She is a Korean American leader who has worked over a decade in refugee protection, immigration policy, and human rights. Jenny is coauthor of Welcoming the Stranger and a contributing author to three other books. Twitter: @jennyyangwr

K. A. ELLIS is the director of the Edmiston Center for the Study of the Bible and Ethnicity. She is an African American woman who is passionate about theology, human rights, and Christian endurance. She collaborates with the Swiss-based organization International Christian Response as they serve and equip the persevering church. Her research explores Christian endurance from society's margins. karenangelaellis.com

KAT ARMAS is a Cuban American writer and podcaster from Miami, Florida. She is the author of Abuelita Faith: What Women in the Margins Teach Us about Wisdom, Persistence, and Strength and the host of The Protagonistas podcast. Her work sits at the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, spirituality, and Scripture. katarmas.com

KA RICHARDS is the wife of African American pastor Jahill, the mother of five, and a grandmother. As a Hmong American daughter of refugees, she grew up in impoverished multiethnic communities. She currently ministers in a predominately African American context, is a Charles Simeon Trust instructor, and is a contributor to the book His Testimonies, My Heritage: Women of Color on the Word of God.

KATHY KHANG is a Korean American writer, speaker, and yoga teacher based in the north suburbs of Chicago. She is the author of Raise Your Voice: Why We Stay Silent and How to Speak Up and serves on the board of Christians for Social Action. kathykhang.com

KRISTIE ANYABWILE is an African American author and editor of His Testimonies, My Heritage: Women of Color on the Word of God. She is the associate director of women's workshops at the Charles Simeon Trust and a founding member of the Pelican Project. She disciples women at Anacostia River Church in Washington, DC, where her husband is senior pastor. They have three children. kristieanyabwile.com

LISA RODRIGUEZ-WATSON is the national director of Missio Alliance. She also serves as the associate pastor of discipleship and equipping at Christ City Church. A proud Cuban American, Lisa is an activist for immigration reform. She is a writer and conference speaker. Lisa lives in Washington, DC, with her husband and three kids. Instagram: @irodwatson

MARIAH HUMPHRIES (MTS) is a Mvskoke Nation citizen, writer, and educator. Through her experience navigating the tension between Native and white American culture, she brings Native awareness to non-Native spaces. With over twenty years of vocational ministry service, she is focused on theology, racial literacy, and reconciliation within the American church. mariahumphries.com; Instagram and Twitter: @mariahumphries

MARLENA GRAVES (MDiv) is a Puerto Rican writer, adjunct professor, and PhD student living in the Toledo, Ohio, area. She has worked with migrant farm workers, asylum seekers, rural and urban poor, and in pastoral roles. She is a bylined writer for numerous venues. Her book The Way Up Is Down: Becoming Yourself by Forgetting Yourself won Christianity Today's 2021 Spiritual Formation Award of Merit. marlenagraves.com

MAZARÉ is an African American spoken-word poet who describes herself as raw honey, "a teaspoon of brutal truth fresh from the comb—bold and thick with sweet." She is the community life coordinator at Grace Downtown in Washington, DC. Experience her poetry album, Raw Honey, and more at mazare.net. Instagram and Twitter: @misspoeticmaz

MEDGINA SAINT-ELIE is a writer and creative who is called to highlight the elephant in the room throughout her work. This Haitian American poet is a Fulbright Scholar and an emerging voice of direction in the media industry. She redefines beauty at Byrdie Beauty, Snapchat, and beyond to amplify the stories of Women of Color. Instagram: @itsmedgina

MICHELLE AMI REYES is an Indian American author, speaker, and writer. She is the vice president of the Asian American Christian Collaborative (AACC) and the co-executive director of Pax. She is also the scholar-in-Residence at Hope Community Church in Austin, Texas, where her husband, Aaron, serves as lead pastor. She is the author of Becoming All Things: How Small Changes Lead to Lasting Connections Across Cultures. michelleamireyes.com

NATASHA SISTRUNK ROBINSON is the president of T3 Leadership Solutions, Inc., and the visionary founder of the 501(c)(3) nonprofit Leadership LINKS, Inc. This African American woman from South Carolina is an author, host of A Sojourner's Truth podcast, speaker, consultant, and coach who engages, equips, and empowers people to live and lead on purpose. natashasrobinson.com

NOEMI CHAVEZ has served as the lead pastor at Revive Church, a multisite in the greater Los Angeles area, for over fifteen years. She is the daughter of Mexican immigrants. Noemi is the cofounder of Brave Global, a nonprofit bridging collaboration of church and state to better serve girls on probation and in foster care. Noemi also serves as chair of the board for Exponential Español, a church-planting network. lifeatrevive.com; braveglobal.org

PATRICIA RAYBON is an award-winning Colorado author, essayist, and novelist who writes stories of faith and mystery. Her debut 1920s mystery novel, All That Is Secret: An Analee Spain Mystery, was a Parade magazine fall 2021 "Mysteries We Love" selection and a PBS Masterpiece's "Best Mystery Books of 2021: As Recommended by Bestselling Authors." As an African American follower of Christ, she encourages people globally to love God and each other. patriciaraybon.com

QUAWANNA N. BANNARBIE is an African American writer and teacher who was born and raised in historic Americus, Georgia. She contributes weekly to the Suffolk News-Herald, the newspaper of Suffolk, Virginia. She is a founding director for the nonprofit Leadership LINKS, Inc., and instructs at Indiana Wesleyan University. She and her husband, Tyrone, have three children. quawannanbannarbie.com; Instagram: @beingquawanna

REBECCA DENG is the author of What They Meant for Evil: How a Lost Girl of Sudan Found Healing, Peace, and Purpose in the Midst of Suffering and one of the eighty-nine Lost Girls of Sudan who came to the US in 2000 as unaccompanied refugee minors after living eight years in the Kakuma Refugee Camp in northern Kenya. She is an international speaker and advocate for women and children victimized by war. She is African American of South Sudanese origin. Facebook: @rebeccadengmedia; Twitter: @rivkadeng

RENEE KYLESTEWA BEGAY is from the Pueblo of Zuni, located in the southwestern part of New Mexico. She is married to her high school sweetheart, Donnie Begay, and they have three daughters. She is the national director for Nations, a conference speaker, and manages a resource website called The Talking Circle. She founded the Nations movement—a national ministry that seeks to build relationships with the Native American community. thetalkingcircle.com; Instagram: @reenebegay

RUTH BUFFALO is a citizen of the Mandan, Hidatsa, and Arikara Nation and originally from Mandaree, North Dakota. She is married to Brian, and they have two sons and two daughters. She is an educator, public health professional, and politician. Ruth was recently elected to the North Dakota legislature representing District 27 in a four-year term as a state house representative. She is a women's peacemaker fellow and founder of Local Innovative Leadership Initiative. Instagram: @ruth_anna_buffalo

SANDRA MARIA VAN OPSTAL, daughter of Colombian and Argentine immigrants, is the founder of Chasing Justice. She is an author, pastor, and activist reimagining the intersection of faith and justice. Her work centers contemplative activism under the mentorship of the global church, for the mobilizing of the next generation of leaders. She holds a master of divinity from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. Her most recent books include The Next Worship: Glorifying God in a Diverse World and Forty Days on Being an Enneagram Eight. chasingjustice.com

SHEILA WISE ROWE (MEd) is a truth-teller and is passionate about faith, emotional and racial trauma healing, and (re)conciliation. She advocates for the dignity and rights of the marginalized and abused. For thirty years Sheila was a therapist in Boston, France, and South Africa, and is now a sought-after writer, speaker, and spiritual director. She authored Healing Racial Trauma and Young, Gifted, and Black: A Journey of Lament and Celebration. sheilawiserowe.com

TARAH-LYNN SAINT-ELIE is a multi-hyphenated millennial who inspires women through her Cosmopolitan UK nominated brand, Adorned in Armor, and Dressed for Battle podcast. The Teen Vogue It Girl turned fashion writer was crowned Miss Black New Jersey and earned her master's from Syracuse University. The Haitian American beauty queen is the author of Claim Your Crown and Love Letters from the King and has been featured on CBN, the Haitian Times, and the YouVersion Bible app. tarahlynnadorned.com; Instagram and YouTube: @iamtarahlynn

TASHA JUN is a Korean American writer, storyteller, and poet. She grew up in a multi-cultural, biracial family in cities all over the world. She is married with three kids. She writes about faith, ethnic identity, belonging, family, and finding beauty and shalom. Her work has appeared in numerous online and print publications, devotionals, and Bible studies. tashajun.com

VIVIAN MABUNI is a Chinese American speaker, author, Bible teacher, and host of the Someday is Here podcast for AAPI (Asian American Pacific Islander) women. Author of Warrior in Pink: A Story of Cancer, Community, and the God Who Comforts and Open Hands, Willing Heart: Discover the Joy of Saying Yes to God, Viv and her husband, Darrin, have served more than thirty years in vocational Christian ministry. They are proud parents of three young adult kids. vivianmabuni.com; Instagram: @vivmabuni