

by Paul Laster
Saturday, April 9

Samuel Jablon, Life, (2015). (Photo: Courtesy Freight+Volume, New York)

Opening: “Samuel Jablon: Life is Fine” at Freight+Volume

Brooklyn-based artist Samuel Jablon, best known for his text paintings, opens two exhibitions of new energetic canvases chock full of abstracted language at the downtown Freight+Volume space on Saturday evening and its uptown Arts+Leisure locale on Sunday. The artist uses acrylic paint, bits of broken glass, mirrors and tiles to repeat and layer letters and language.

Freight+Volume, 97 Allen Street, New York, 6-9 p.m.