Austin's reworks showcases furniture at famous Round Top Antique Show, March 23-April 7

AUSTIN—Furniture and home accessories designer and fabricator reworks will load its distinctive and elegant pieces into a moving truck, while the owners pack up their rented recreational vehicle, and head to the world-famous Round Top Antique Show, where they will be from March 23- April 7.

reworks will take many of its newest furniture pieces and some familiar favorites to the show, including baluster sconces, fluted steel cocktail tables, hand-forged decorative trays, ring pendant lights, and more.

The Round Top Antique Show is one of the largest bi-annual antique and retail buying fairs in the country, and it encompasses thousands of shows spanning across six small rural communities at a midpoint between Houston and Austin. reworks will be at the Blue Hills show, located on HWY 237.

reworks founders Chotsie Gregson and Willem Sypesteyn have been selling their high-end home furnishings and accessories at the Round Top Antique Show for three years, and they have one of the most elaborately-staged spaces at Blue Hills.

“We take the time to set up faux walls, stage the furniture and accessories, and make everything look and feel like it would in an actual storefront,” Gregson says. “It makes reworks memorable, and allows our customers to enjoy a more soothing and comfortable shopping environment.”

Blue Hills at Round Top features more than 60 vendors on a 24-acre pasture and event venue. Admission and parking are free. Roll'en Hills moving company will be on-site to help customers load up purchased items. For more info about Blue Hills and directions, please visit www.bluehillsatroundtop.com.
