

LADERA OESTE

We believe

In art

In a critical society

In an independent society

In culture

In its revolutionary force

In the exhibition

In the work of art

In simple objects

In complex ideas

In new ideas

In old ideas

In borrowed ideas

(none better than the other)

In small gestures

In instructions

In what makes sense

In what does not make sense

In the untold story

In the unnoticed events

In supporting actors

In the suburbs

In comments

In versions

In covers

In quotes

In language:

confusion

disconcert

noise

In the book: origin

In poetry and

its irrelevancy

In translation and its impossibility

In the footnote

In the comment in the margin

In our context

Neither center or border

Neither South or North

Neither West or East

In the fiction of architecture

In its story

In its fragility

In its solitude

In the air moving silently

In the energy they come from small sources

In the first artist

and the last reader