Summers on the Terrace: Working with Children and Families

Volunteers are needed to help run programs Monday evening for children and their families. The programs run from 5pm to 7pm from mid-June until school starts in August.

The programs combine educational booster activities for children, food, and family fun activities with parents and children. The educational activities are especially important for the children, and the family time gets their parents involved in their children's cognitive and social development.

Adventures on the Terrace: Educational and Socialization Activities for Children

This program is for children in the neighborhood. It is held Thursday afternoons from 1pm to 2pm. Volunteers are needed to help with programs that actively engage children in educational, socialization, and health activities.

One of the activities is to guide the children in working in the vegetable garden. It is a great opportunity for the children to have positive interactions with people older than them. "Older" also includes teenagers!
