From the balance of daily breath to the upheaval of inspiration, the cosmic clarity arrives and we either rise into its rhythm or retreat. To say yes is to find the fullness of change, the boldness of conversion that pulls us onward into compassion. Here is where joy resides, here is where our purpose spills over the brim and flips perspective.
With this revelation accepted, we stand with our offering of heart and watch as the world welcomes our great gift.
