Water Concerns Meeting

Newington residents are invited to meet with representatives from the Air Force, N.H. Department of Environmental Services and E.P.A. on Tuesday, Sept 26th at 6:30 p.m. at the Newington Town Hall.

The Air Force will provide an overview of progress made to address the perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) and perfluorooctanoic sulfonate (PFOS) contamination in drinking water at the former Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, NH.

While all necessary actions have been taken to ensure drinking water is safe from PFOS and PFOA, the Air Force will continue to monitor drinking water wells in the vicinity of the PFOS/PFOA plume, including those in Newington, to ensure the levels are below the EPA Lifetime Health Advisories for those two contaminants.

Newington residents with questions are encouraged to submit them in advance to selectmen@newington.nh.us, so answers can be discussed at the time of the meeting.
