We do a shit that hits different.

It may be controversial. You may have already seen the episode title in your podcast app, but we do a shit that hits different, Love Jones edition.

Love Jones Discussion and Apology to KG

[1:17] We talk about the characters, the space and time, this movie captured in black culture, But we want to know if there's anybody out there who agrees with us and our thoughts on Love Jones.

There may be an apology to KG in this episode as well.

And after we talk about Love Jones, we have a little quick kiki and she can let us get all up in her business about her niggabactical, right?

She is on a niggabactical and I love that word. So stick around for the conversation.

Alright, so let's hop right into my pick of the week and I don't know this might be a controversial pick too because I know so many people are target over Walmart, but I'm you can ask my friends I'm somebody I shop at Walmart because they are significantly cheaper and my pick of the week is it is, Particularly Walmart plus I've been noticing recently the Amazon Prime the prices have gone crazy Like the toilet paper that I like to get the seventh generation. It's like a bulk thing.

It's over on Amazon and I normally buy it and it used to be like $27.

[2:25] When I would order it. And I looked, it's $57. But the same thing over on Walmart Plus is 20 fucking dollars. So guess where I am?

Right now they're running, I think for Black Friday, like their Walmart Plus membership for $49. And I'm not getting paid for this. I'm not an affiliate. But I just like putting y'all on shit because everything is high and we can all save some money.

So I know we're so tied to Amazon Prime, But what I will say so far, Amazon Prime has been slipping because the little two day delivery ain't been too dangin'. Okay.

And so Walmart Plus, some things I've gotten same day, some things I got the very next day and everything on there has been significantly cheaper, significantly cheaper than things that I typically buy on Amazon.

So I'm not saying to replace them.

I share Amazon with Mama Ratchet. and so I bought Walmart Plus, so we're gonna share that. But right now I think it's like a half off for the first year if you sign up.

So maybe some additional savings over there for things that you already buy.

And then you don't have to go in the store. You can do it on the thing.

But Walmart is definitely trying to be Amazon's competitor and I'm here for it, okay?

Cause Amazon had the shit on lock and they got us all fucked up right now. Housekeeping.

[3:44] Housekeeping. Come back later, please. Housekeeping.

Not now. So first things first, we're going to get into Whips Tassels and Paint Oh My with the Sweet Spot Nation. That was last week's episode.

[4:09] So that was really exciting for me to see. I'm glad you all were into the episode.

And if you have not listened to it, then go back and check out last week's episode with The Sweet Spot.

Reunited with Shika after a long time

[6:27] Hey y'all so this week we got the homie Shika. Hey girl.

Hi. How you been? It's been a long time since you've been on here.

It's been a very long time. I am fine.

That's good. I can't really complain. You know I've been minding my business, drinking my water and yeah. You're fucking me up.

I'm with all the memes this week. How much daylight we saving or not save?

Like, I just, I don't know.

The first day after we set the clocks back, really had your girl messed up.

It was the slowest day on earth.

Like I was looking and I was like, okay, yeah, it should be two o'clock and it was 1030 AM.

And I was like, oh, okay, well it should be 11 o'clock.

Like every time I looked, It was four hours from away when I thought it was, so.

Yeah, and I get off at three and it was definitely dragging for me.

I've been falling asleep at like eight o'clock every day.

I'm just... I know, it's just such an adjustment because it's really just an hour, but it really is a mind fuck.

I was earlier though, like, I walked out from getting my nails done, what was it, a little after five? And I was like, damn, the sun's setting, like shit.

[7:49] I had to put my car lights on to drive home. Yeah, like, it's, it is such a mindfuck that I don't like it. It's literally just an hour.

And I'm also, KG is gonna yell at me because whenever he comes over here the next time is when my clocks on the microwave and stove will change.

Like, I don't change them.

Like, it's just too much to try to get them coordinated.

It is too much. So I haven't changed my, like, my microwave is blank.

Like, I don't even do the time anymore. I don't I don't care Change the stove yesterday only because I was in the kitchen doing something and I had just looked at my phone But I looked at the time and I was really fucking confused and I was like, yeah, what is what's going on?

I got to change my car too. I was looking at my car and I was like Change the car, Car, but you know mama ratchet got a new car and I'm like dang these new cars It didn't automatically change it, but when you went to time, it was a button and you just hit off daylight savings and it switched.

I was like, it literally said daylight saving and you clicked it and it was off.

I think mine is simple too.

[9:04] Um, but yeah, I just, yeah, I was like, damn, mine, mine is old.

I got to hold the H button for hour until it like, yeah, my Marantz's car was just like daylight savings. Okay.

And it flipped it. That was amazing, but.

[9:20] Yeah, no, life is good. I can't complain besides my complaining about the time

Discussing their plan to talk about Love Jones movie

[9:25] like everybody else, but When I said, okay, I had been planning out my episodes trying to do better.

So I'm not Working at a deficit and I was like, all right Let me I got a squeeze she can't hear and then I was like, what are we gonna talk about?

And then I Saw I have to pull it up because I was like she gets coming on I love it and I'm going to the page now.

That was the inspiration I should have had this pulled up before I hit record, but our good, good brother friend, Duran Bernard, he had tweeted, I saw the tweet, but then I think he put it on Instagram.

And of course my Instagram doesn't want to pull up right now, but it was about the movie Love Jones.

I remember, I think I was in bed or something. Yeah.

And so I was like, oh, that's what Shika and I need to talk about. We need to talk about a shit that hits different Love Jones edition and Shika was like I'm down. I see what platform is it on? I said, oh, I just saw it on HBO max and He's oh, this is the tweet. He said one day y'all gonna grow up and admit Love Jones is terrible. Yeah.

[10:37] You know, I have not watched it again because I have a feeling I'm gonna hate it and And I let the record reflect.

I was never a big Love Jones fan.

It's not a movie that I, of the Black classics that I re-watched because I personally, it was not a favorite of mine, but I don't deny if people want to include Love Jones on the Black classic cinema list.

Okay, you can put it there. I just have never been a big fan of Love Jones.

And in this re-watch, it confirmed I'm still not a big fan of Love, Jones.

I was going to say, I don't think I was a big fan of Love, like, when it came out. Like, I don't know. It was something about it. I remember when it first came out, I probably watched it less than five times.

But you were also young as fuck. Like, we were, what, 13, 14 when it came out?

Yeah, but we should have been, I feel like I should have been more impressionable than just really big.

Because here's the bottom, here's the black ass bottom line about Love Jones. This shit is boring.

[11:44] It is boring. I checked the time and I was like, when is this shit over? That's what I did! Halfway I said, why? Because I know the plot. I was like, it's still so much more of this movie left. This shit is boring.

I'd forgot the ending until the ending happened. I was like, oh right, because that was another thing. It just kind of like ends and you're like.

That was it? I was through there happily ever after, I guess. I guess.

I don't know. Or they broke up again because that's the fuck they did the whole fucking movie. Also they both were terrible at dating each other so it was just like this is not.

[12:22] Sexy it was really wasn't it it had no drama it was just like at least like soul food which came out around the same time and we were still young it had drama like people pulling knives and you fucking it was like love jones was just a boring ass movie and so let's let's you know how we do this.

I also want to fucking say, as we're watching this, and as you're listening to this, I am so fucking happy that I've missed the whole poetry snap snap era.

Baby, because I took notes.

And I said first spoken word artist is why I hate that shit now.

I just what is Oh, I was the conference of your heart meets by.

[13:11] What the fuck are you saying i literally was like oh my god i am so happy i missed that era of black culture i glad i was not grown during that because i was cringing i was like oh how am i going to make it through this hour and 15 minutes because i hate this and even the conversations they were having as a fin group.

I was like, nobody talks like this.

[13:37] Yeah, it was, it was my first I was like, is like, I really wanted to be grown in the 90s. But not in that I didn't want to talk about and I don't know how old they were supposed to be. I must really 30 I was thinking late 20s early 30s.

But here Okay, we're gonna put a pin in that because I could never really figure out how old they were.

Um, even though I missed that poetry era, I just still also wouldn't let the record reflect that artistic Dick B.

Bomb is kind of on that elite level, them artsy fartsy dudes.

But okay, that's another conversation for another day.

I've heard some things I don't know if I know for sure.

I, I, you know, Dick is very far off my mind these days. Oh, we'll get to that a little later.

So, I don't really know. But yeah, I was, I was very, like, it was just so much about this movie that just did not make sense. Like, okay.

Lorenz's Hair: A Surprising Choice

[14:41] First of all, after they met, and then they were at the club.

Stop before they met. Okay. I have a question.

Okay. Because I have to write this down.

I didn't realize that Lorenz, one, did not have a shape up, and his fucking shit was brushed back.

Okay. Why was his hair brushed back? Okay, let's talk about it, because I wrote literally in my notebook, when did Lorenz get fined because he's not in this movie? It wasn't.

It wasn't giving. Like all the other niggas in the movie I would have given pussy to, even the drumline man, and he annoyed the fuck out of me too.

Lorenz was not fine in this movie.

Like, I was just really shocked his hairline was like, brushed back.

[15:28] Like a Franklin Diamond type thing. I was just like, what's going on?

Yeah, I wrote that down. When did he get fine? Because it wasn't in Love Jones.

But I did write right above that, Bill Bellamy aged so well.

Oh my God, he looks so much better now, isn't he? Like, he was good looking then, like I see why people liked Bill Bellamy then.

But like, to look at 50 year old Bill Bellamy? Oh, he looks great.

He should be on Vintage List meat. Like, he's a nice looking man.

I think he looks better older than he does in Love Jones. Yeah, like, I was like, wow.

Even Isaiah Washington. Like, I would have fucked him over Laurence Tate in a movie too.

And Laurence just was not, it was very, I would, I was just really shocked when they zoomed in and I was like, huh, that's an interesting hair choice.

Especially when they were at the bar and it was the side profile.

I was like, whoo, no, I wouldn't even look, I'd have been like, hmm.
Yeah. Thanks. And then, okay, we're talking about appearance.

[16:30] Lisa Nicole Carson, baddie. Always and forever fine. Baddie. I was like, I forgot. I know she had some mental health issues, and that's why she left the industry for a while. But everything she was ever in, I was just always like, damn, she's bad. I only watched Ali make bill for her.

Yeah, she was just a baddie, man.

Loved her. Okay, so back to your thing. I just, the hairline, I just couldn't let it go. We had to get it back.

So right after they meet at the club and he does his little trying to be the funk in your right, whatever, snap, snap.

[17:11] They meet again, star-crossed lovers.

Who the fuck just needs an Isley Brothers CD? Now, I understand this is the 90s and you just buy CDs, but she's like, girl, I need an Isley Brothers CD.

I just thought that was, I don't know. It was very random. I was thinking, and I didn't do the Googles at the time because I was really trying to pay attention.

I get very distracted watching TV and on my phone.

But I'm like, did the, like, had the album come out that week?

Yeah. But it seemed like it was an older one. So I, but maybe she needed Isley Brothers because she was coming off of a breakup.

I just. Okay, look at you providing context. Cause I was just like, that is so random.

Like, I was like in 97, like, if she went in like, girl, I need a Mary J. Blige album.

Okay. All right. But I think it just seems so random to me.

It was very random. And I was just like, I mean, I assumed it was some breakup shit. I don't know. Yeah. Okay.

But then this was the cru - like, this goes back to our whole like, I think we said it when we rewatched A Thin Line Between Love and Hate.

The stalker ass move he did with getting her address off the check and showing up to her house is wild.

I would have been shocking in the nineties and currently.

[18:37] He's still up to, if a man I saw out twice, right?

We had an encounter at a bar and then I run into him at a store.

And then an hour later, he's at my home.

I'm not letting him in. I'm calling 9 -1 -1. She let him into her home.

We were so trusting. It was just a more trusting time.

Because I was like, you know, there's this thing in the movies, you know, a couple of them, but I'm like, men really didn't have any boundaries, and just a ton of audacity.

I could not, in my right mind, go to somebody's house, like, pop up at a nigga's house that I don't know, like... If that was reversed, we all types of desperate and crazy.

[19:32] I was like, niggas is wild. You went to her house.

And his only concern was not that it was crazy, but what if a man was there?
Yeah. He was like, oh, what if you're right? What if our nigga there?
Yeah. And on top of, and it wasn't just him showing up because I do feel like Sheila, the girlfriend in the group, specifically told him no.
So I feel like he snuck and stole the address and phone number and then popped up.
So it's like, so what's the beef with Sheila now?
Like girl, because I gave that check to you.

[20:13] Which is yeah that was shocking to me for some reason i didn't remember that and i was just like why would he stalk i forgot about that whole thing too i also was like with the lens of now, what was the cost of living in the 90s because these motherfuckers was like she worked at a record store in the 30s because when i saw Nina's apartment i was like this is this is a nice apartment.
But she was a struggling photographer assistant.

[20:46] That's why I was like maybe she's 30, I don't know. And then Sheila's working at a record store as a cashier.
He was a writer who quit his job to focus on his book.
Clearly Isaiah Washington was having financial problems because his wife left and was like, you're broke ass.
I wrote that Darius was moving like a homosexual because I just felt like, because he had quit his job and he was doing a writing thing, I was like, he's real pressed to be up in our home. And in this day and age, if you're really pressed to be up in my home, and I wake up and you're making me breakfast, I feel like you don't have nowhere to live.
Yeah, and his house was nice, too, once they showed it. Yeah, it was a nice house, but definitely creeper -stalker vibes.
Like, what the fuck is going on? And so then they have a first date.

[21:44] And so he took her to the...
To his friend's house for a fucking kickback.
That's why when he said like another date, I was like, hold on, nigga, you ain't never take her on no date.
And that's why he said that shit later on. She did say it later on, But he tried to follow it up later, like, they went uptown to the little sexy dance place.
Body rolling on each other. No. Okay, no. We probably got in there free before 11.
And we just danced. They didn't have no drink, they just danced.
They did. They did literally just grind on each other. But then they had first date sex.
Which is fine, but they didn't have a date. I just felt like he was doing way too much to be like, oh, let me take you around my friend group.
Like, nigga, I don't even know you. What is this?
When you say it like that, though, like, I legit stalked you for your address and showed up at your house so I could take you to my friend's house.

[22:47] Okay, you're right. Yeah, you're right. This is perfect for me.

Like, I love it. You're right.

You're right. Just, I mean, who's going to say I ain't never been on the first date that wasn't no fucking date? Okay?

Understood. Now, was that sex scene, the sex scene that you saw on Nia's nipple?

They showed a lot of Nia's nipples. Her nipples were everywhere.

Especially even when she was dressed. The first scene of nipples was like, I bitch.

It came to my mind, I said, they were really putting Nia's nipples on display.

No, they were out there the whole time. The very first scene, they were like, pow.

And the wife beat her. She was just like...

Her nipples were the third lead of the movie.

[23:31] I'm sure some teenage boys, that's why they watched the movie and why they fell in love with Nia Long that very moment.

I mean, she's fucking stunning. I know we talked about Lisa Nicole Carson, but I just feel like it didn't have to be said that Nia Long is stunning.

Like we all know it's Nia Long.

But the scene after that, when her and Josie are in the cab, she was like, you slept with him.

And she was like, yeah, his dick spoke to me. And she was like, what is that?

Wild Tales and Frustrations in the Cab Ride

[24:02] That scene, I was like, I loved it. And she was just like, his dick, it just talked to me.

And I was like, well, bitch, you just said that, like, you didn't say nothing else.

She was frustrating me in the cab because she wasn't giving me enough juice, and Then right after that, you know what happened cuz niggas going Nick the X showed up cuz those motherfuckers got radar Marvin showed back up, Like I just I don't know it was very strange for me for him Cuz we didn't know who the ex was Yeah, they just said his name and she was packing up, And then he just pops up and it's the nigga from juice and I was just like oh I Forgot you were even a part of this but also Why did she decide to go to New York I just.

Questioning the Decision to Go to New York

[24:57] He is a plane ticket fly. He gave that bitch a love fucking - Who were they? Chicago? Chicago.

I still, okay. I thought it was Chicago. When they were - They were in a train.

He gave her a train ticket to New York.

But let's also just let the record reflect too. Khalil Cain, he been fine for a long time too.

He's been a - Even though he was off, that was, I enjoyed him in juice.

He was off his shit, but I fucked with it. Yeah.

[25:27] Yeah, I enjoyed him as a little 90s vibe. And it's funny because I'm also rewatching Living Single and it was a few episodes where he was Regine's boyfriend.

But yeah, he shows back up. Did he just ask her to come there?
Because I don't remember. It was just like... Like, girl, I miss you.
I set up shop in New York. You should come out there because you're a photographer.
Like, that's kind of what it was like. I've been building for us.
I miss you. And so, she fucking him and she tell him, I'm gonna go. I'm gonna go to New York, but I want to be honest with you.
We just kicked, they both just said that, right? It's not a love thing, we just kicking it, but they both was really feeling something.
Instead of being honest, they were lying.
And when she says, I'm going to New York.
About some things, which was so ridiculous. And the things that they decided to be honest about was just like, I guess, okay.
So then she said, he's like, I'm a play it cool.
And he's like, go, I get it. We just kicking it. Ain't nothing.
And then he immediately pulls up with a new bitch, Lisa.
Immediately started fucking the light -skinned girl. I just, I, first of all, they both were stupid.
Immensely so. Because.

Confusion and Disapproval in Nina's Relationship Choices

[26:53] First of all, Nina, let me tell you something. If you were engaged, you moved on way too quickly.

And if you're going to move on way too quickly, that means you cannot go back to your ex-fiance, nigga. You just can't.

So I just didn't understand the thought process. And then it's like, you're going here for what?

[27:16] Because it wasn't like you were interested in being with him.

You were quickly disgusted. You left the fucking ring on its pinky and left.

And then he didn't want you to go. And I'm pretty sure she told him in being honest, but also to see his reaction because... Because she wanted him to say, stay.

Yeah. Yeah. And if he doesn't care, so then he's not being honest, so it's given he don't care.

So you just go, and then it's like, you also came back and didn't say anything.

Now, I do get it. She called before she left.

He did not answer. She left a message. He just listened to it while the rain poured outside or whatever the fuck was going on. Darius, it's Nina.

I just wanted to... It was like the way that he talks in the movie. It was just a lot.

Yeah, she's like, I'm gonna be at the train station at this time just letting you know. And it's just like...

What am I supposed to do, bitch? I'm not getting on the train with you.

He didn't want to go stop her.

She didn't want to not go. So I just feel like coming back and seeing what a new bitch was expecting. I don't know.

I just don't know. Yeah, he definitely pulled up.

And then she comes back.

[28:33] And starts dating his boy. Now, this is where I was like, okay, girl, you really out of pocket.

That's the one part of the movie I actually remembered and I just really didn't understand that.

Because it was like you met him, so you knew exactly who he was.

You met him twice with your nigga that you was kicking it with.

So you knew, like, you knew. So, He didn't even like his personality.

It wasn't like, oh, you picked the wrong friend.

You were being spiteful, which was insane to me.

[29:10] Yeah. I know how she rationalized it in her mind. She was shooting - Because they weren't together.

No, I feel like she was shooting Bill Bellamy like a homie.

Like she was about to friend zone him. No, she was. She, cause they never - She was friend zoning him, even though he took her on a date.

They didn't - She was friend zoning him. they never showed them have sex, right?

Like they showed him, they showed him court her, right?

Like he showed up at her photography studio, like take pictures, you're a photographer.

And then they went out and they he after Darius embarrassed him where they were talking about, I can get employed.

He was like, but the difference is you get fired.

And I was like, and I leave the job, he leaves the job, you get fired. I was like, okay.

I was so tickled by that whole little analogy with Sheila sitting there like, he told you.

Um, so I thought Bill Bellamy's character was funny though, because I was like, why is he driving a hearse though?

Like, well, he was driving, when he said he had a Cadillac in the beginning, I didn't expect it to be a hearse.

And then it's like, you knew what you were doing.

I just feel like everybody was fucked up. Everybody was. Nobody was communicating.

And homeboy from Drumline.

[30:35] Everybody else was a terrible, they were terrible people. They were terrible people.

Because then even Isaiah Washington shows up at the game night with a girl who wasn't his wife. Who was his co -worker.

It was his co -worker. It was his work wife. He'd bring his fucking work wife to the game. He brought the work wife?

Then several events because it wasn't just the one like I was just like, what is going on?

Then Bill Bellamy shows up with Nina at the house party and Darius sitting there looking dusty.

So that whole exchange was hilarious too because girl.

Again, you knew he was his friend and when he said I'm taking you to a little he's not like a kick
He doesn't kick back, but he was like chill.

It's gonna be good And you pulled up at the house Weren't y 'all at Sheila's house before?

I don't know who's house they were at so I'm like didn't you see?

We were at the same house.

I think she thought maybe Darius wouldn't be there But it's just like why would you go around with friends?

That's his friend group. So then you got embarrassed and wanted to take me home. Can I see you outside?

But that made me laugh because he was like, bye and went back inside.

And then he's like, you left her outside?

[31:53] So, that shit was funny. Okay, so they kind of reconnect again and this time they really kicking it. they do a little happy love montage.

And then it was like, fuck all this shit again.

And I'm correct. This is the part where I was just like, you know what?

People will really dig their heels in to spite themselves to prove a point.

Because then Josie called Darius again.

Like, hey, I'm just calling you to let you know, you know, she got this job interview with vibe and da da da da is going good and he goes why are you calling me with this?

It's just like I just thought you'd like to know do with it what you want click and I said he got real irate for no reason because you knew you wanted that information because then what was you doing, chasing after that train when it was pulling out you missed it and you missed it.

[32:54] It was just so much because then they had the whole little encounter again, oh, that was after he told her to leave because she was like, I seen you with that girl. And he was like, what girl?

And then he was like, Lisa. So I'm like, it was just all of these back and forth, these little childish games because nobody wanted to communicate.

But, all that being said, I will agree that Love Jones is terrible.

I don't like it. It's not for me. It really is not for me.

I just feel like the back and forth, it was... Like, I would have given up already.

Because I just, like, yeah, I guess it was supposed to portray, like, oh, they have been fooling around for, like, weeks now.

And all these feelings are involved, but like, honestly, I would have just been done.

[33:53] I didn't understand, because it was, and I get, okay, I can get the fantasy of, oh, you know, you go, you have sex on the first night, it's everything you wanted, we were clicking, we're vibing, but also there was some issues y 'all had that I didn't understand.

I feel like maybe it was that we didn't get enough of their personalities to understand what their contention was. The characters were very flat.

Like, I know we just dissect the whole relationship because that's what we do, right?

And so understanding Shika and I both are aware of this is a fictional relationship, whatever.

But just talking about the movie itself, the characters were super flat.

You got no connection to none of them. It's like, we just knew very surface level shit about them and this really weird, shaky, on again, off again relationship with some friends.

And like, Like even the only friend, like the friends didn't really add texture to it much either.

I don't know. It was just really weird. I don't know. I just.

When I look at this movie again, I'm just like, they were playing games, but like just the storyline was choppy at best.

The soundtrack was fire though, because you have my favorite version of the Maxwell.

[35:17] Oh my God. I love that. The mellow, smooth version. Yeah.

Ooh. So I love the mellow, smooth version. And you got Lauryn Hill, Sweetest Thing Ever.

So the soundtrack was something. Hopeless in the beginning, amazing.

But yeah, I just was like, and then people be like, you got to be grown to get it. No, the movie's flat.

I think I liked it more as a youngster. I hated it as an adult.

And I told you I might hate it. And I knew it.

Theater of Witcher. Who is the writer?

I don't know who the writer is. I don't know, because I bet you he ain't no shit else. Let's look it up. Theodore Witcher. I have no idea who he is.

Theodore Witcher. He's the producer. Oh, I bet you he ain't right now.

Is he white? Oh no, he's black. Okay. Wouldn't that be something?

He looks a little mixy.

He's probably one of them artsy fartsy people. Oh Okay, so Jones in, 1997 body count in 98 in Damascus in 2023 So he had no career like he just got lucky that he had a good black cast With a decent soundtrack cuz love Jones ain't it. This is going even reviewed.

Boredom sets in, hoping for something more captivating

[36:31] With this one, I don't know y'all It was hard to even be entertained, like.

It was boring, like, I literally paused it and went, because when I first text you, it was early, like, all right, I'm starting.

Yeah. When I text you, it was like five hours later, because I paused it for two hours, because I was bored.

You were sleeping. I started when the sun, I was like, I'm going to watch this when the sun is up, because I just feel like it's not going to hold me.

But it really, it really didn't. and I don't, I don't know. I don't know.

Oh, Roger Ebert spoke to Witcher by Zoom to discuss this.

Oh, so this must have been something, they must have talked about it.

Oh, because what was it? 20 years? 25 years?

It was an anniversary they just had. Oh, I just found the original Roger Ebert.

What did he say? He gave it three stars. Out of five? Yeah.

That sound about right.

I mean it's a very long.

[37:40] It says, I think Witcher is trying to evoke the tone of that period when Bohemian was still somewhat secret, when success was not only measured by sales and when fictional characters wrote novels instead of computer programmings.

This is also the abode to the unconventional ending in the film.

Many love stories contrive to get characters together. This one contrives not to keep them apart, but to bring them to a better, sweet awareness that is above simple love.

Yeah, I think...

Yeah, I don't know. It just, we keep saying it, it just fell flat.

And I really was hoping that watching this one as an adult, as we revisited and as shit hit different for this one that I could be like, you know what, as an adult, I have a different appreciation for this because we did that.

And I enjoyed, you know, thin line between love and hate, but it definitely had a different feel as an adult.

Cause I was like, Randy was not the villain at all, but this one, I'm, I think I've dug in more that, um.

[38:43] Yeah, I just dug in more that it's okay not to like the movies that other people like.

And I think I realized that this is why I didn't really think much of the movie then, because it is a little, it's like you said, the characters are kind of flat.

It's boring. So it never was anything that I really felt like, oh, like, I think I thought about Love and Basketball more than Love Jones.

Now, here's the thing, Love and Basketball is one. We haven't done a Shit Hits Different on that one, but I watch Love and Basketball way more, even though I can acknowledge some of the problematic themes in that one, right?

But I definitely watch Love and Basketball, because at least it was enjoyable.

It was an enjoyable watch.

Love Jones criticized as boring and dry

[39:34] Love Jones was boring. I'm going to keep saying it. It is boring and dry.

Yeah, and even when we're older. Yeah, don't tell me you don't know.

This shit is boring. Yeah, I mean, and love it if you do.

Love it if you do. I barely watch movies anyway. I really only watch movies mainly when we do this. I'm just not a movie girl anymore.

But when I was younger, I was and this was one that I didn't really revisit and it never stuck out to me then.

And you know who's gonna give us a hate gram?

[40:09] Kenny. So Kenny, I know this is one of your favorite movies.

Yeah, well, you know what his IG screen name is? Yes. Don't choke. Don't die, Darius.

But you know what? Even in watching the movie the other day, it didn't register.

That's what it was like. Now I think because now I can see the book title like you know the cover of his book that he released not Kenny Darius Lovehall but I love that.

Kenny I'm so shy that is a terrible movie. I love you wild.
He's gonna hate me for this. That's my guy but wow.
I did look up the soundtrack.
Yeah, hopeless like a penny with a hole in it. The sweetest thing.
I got a love Jones for you. Something about the mellow smooth cut never enough grew theory even the people on the soundtrack. Okay, you know what?
I take that back. I was giving the soundtrack a lot of play, but I really only know the first four songs.

Exploring the Bohemian chic era and its influence.

[41:35] The several articles I see was talking about the Bohemian chic era and you know.
But it is because like even people on here, it's like Michelle and Angelica, the brand new heavies, Duke Ellington.
Okay, well, we know that Duke Ellington and John Coltrane.
I just saw one with Cassandra Wilson so yeah and at the time Maxwell was that very this is after Maxwell only had one album out then so he was still big here.
I was into that I used to listen to Maxwell in my room all the time.
Oh my god my mom loved Maxwell then so.
I was listening I was taking my dad's Maxwell CDs I was very much into it but yeah this just didn't.
So yeah so let us know Oh, and we know there'll be a lot of commentary.
So when, after you listen to this episode, go on the Instagram page, there'll be some reels.
I'm gonna need you to go ahead and put a little comment in there, see if you agree with us, but that's our recap.
And now before we wrap up, I'm circling back.
Why is Dick not on your mind?

The Pledge of Celibacy and Avoiding Relationships

[42:43] Do you have a pledge of celibacy? What's happening here? I'm not even pledging celibacy. I just rather not be bothered.
And it's not like, I don't like women, right?
So I'm just not like, going to like, hop over to the other side or whatever.
But I also am not liking men.

[43:10] I don't like the examples I see of them. I'd be tired of what the fuck they have to say.
And I just don't want to engage.
I think I told you like a month ago that I thought I was ready to like get back out there. No, I'm okay.
I kind of just don't want to be bothered. And I think that's okay for me to just sit in that for a while because I want to be enthusiastic.

But I found my, like, if I catch somebody looking at me, I'm turning my head, because I just don't want to be bothered.

I think that I gave it a great effort.

It's, I feel like the year of 2023, I really tried. I tried with niggas, and now I'm on a break.

That's fair. These niggas is exhausting. You know, I was just having this conversation, and then I saw something on the internet. somewhere, I don't know what platform, it's so much that we ingest.

And myself, I try to break it and I can't.

But it was talking about.

[44:13] How they too are over men and dating.

And it makes them sad because it's having to make a place, having to make a place for yourself to be happy while you watch other people like evolve around you with the conversation.

And so it was saying like they want to be partnered and they want to be coupled, but it's not happening for them.

And they're so exhausted and drained with men themselves that they just don't have it to give to make a relationship happen.

And then they were like on the flip side, I'm watching people around to me, having babies, getting married, starting relationships and families, their life is evolving in a different way where we may not be able to spend time with each other in the same way.

And so I was like, oh, this is heavy. So I go to the next video.

And so she was saying she was struggling with how can I keep the people around me who I care about close enough, but also have a life that's fulfilling to me while honoring it's not the life I thought I would have.

[45:36] Yeah, because I'm experiencing that now. I mean, and it's not necessary.

And again, I think it depends on your personality. It's not that sad for me right now, because, I don't mind being alone, but I will say the flip side of that, because friends have partners, or children, or both, I spend, I just spend a lot of time by myself.

And I'm for right now, okay with that.

Um, you know, if there's things I want to do, there might be, I have to do that by myself.

And I think I'm okay with that for now. Um, you know, hopefully said doesn't come in and kick my ass, but for the most part.

[46:28] Depression guys, but for the most part, um, yeah, I've been fine, but there is a, Sad of it that you'll be alone a lot and you it might feel lonely But I also think it's just a phase like I don't think it has to be forever but also too, when you're looking at people around you, you don't know the inner workings of anybody.

So it might look great, but if you were in that same position, it might not feel great to you.

I think we are all created to take what we can and bear what we can.

I'm not, no, he, I don't hate niggas. You know, I don't hate men or anything, but I do just don't feel like it, especially if you're not a certain type.

Like, I think me being the type of person I am, I grant people, I grant niggas a lot of grace.

And I can be as understanding, easy to talk to, whatever, but the men I've come across, I don't even wanna say take advantage of it cause I don't feel taken advantage of cause I pack up my things and I move on. but they will exhaust you of your goodness.

[47:48] And the gifts you bring. So it's just like, I don't need that.

I don't pour it into me and the other people around me, but niggas know.

Yeah, I thought it was an interesting conversation that I was hearing into, but cause then I read all the comments and it was a lot of women saying that they agreed with that. And.

Mourning the Life That Wasn't and Approaching 40

[48:07] I think for me too I'm fortunate enough where I do have people in my life who are married and have kids but the bulk are single and child -free so it's not as dark but even those who are married with kids I still find space to connect with them and so for me I don't feel like when I watch them have these things I don't feel like I'm mourning something I thought I would have Because I never thought I would have kids, right?

Like, that's never been a big wish for me.

Now, I said to somebody and they couldn't even bring themselves to admit it.

Because when I said it, I will say though, I never thought I would be approaching 40 and unwed.

Like, I thought by now, at least, I would have been with, be with somebody.

For sure. Maybe if it wasn't marriage, but we definitely would have been partnered and it's we're together I did not think now that part I can say with my chest that I did not think that I would be almost 40.

[49:19] And yeah, okay. I'm not 40 yet cuz we could see in it. So I'm 30.

I'll be 39 next month Relax.

I know latest birthday like People keep saying, like, you've been turning 39 yet.

Calm down.

I can say it because I've been 39 since July, but you have got to relax.

I'm like, what is she talking about?

[49:44] Yo, people been getting on me. They're like, bitch, you ain't even turned 39 yet.

Right. It's almost 40, you know. But we'll look. Pushing it.

[49:55] I'm closer to 40 than 30. But I just, I really did not think I would not be here.

And I think where I'm at with it is, to some degree, what would life look like if it doesn't happen?

[50:12] And I was talking to someone I was close with, and they were like, I can't even think about that, because that's just not an option.

And so I'm like, different in that respect. And I won't even call this a worst -case scenario because it's not the worst case, right?

It is the realistic possibility, right? It's a possibility.

So for so much of my life, I have shaped it around at some point it would be two people and I'm still a solo.

So okay now what does aging look like if you are solo?

And I think that's a very realistic conversation to have because you got a plan as much as I'm a treat yourself YOLO kind of girl you still got a plan for that kind of shit and so I too I don't know if um you know I don't know what part of my chart does this and I need to have a reading but I feel like as much as I keep being like oh I'm tired of these niggas.

[51:27] Every time I say that, I then be like, because I don't know if it's a sad Jimmy. I don't know what it is.

I'm literally a lover girl from the start. Like, I can fall in love with somebody in a week. I swear to God I could.

I'm so like the possibilities, girl.

Libra rising is what it really is. It might be the Libra. It's a Libra too. Libras do not.

I have a Libra friend who's different from other Libras I know, Believers do not be willing to be alone for nothing.

Yeah, like as soon as we're in, I don't get so, what's the word?

I don't get so de lulu that I'm like, oh, this is this, but I do fall in head first. I'm all the way in love. And then it goes away. Oh my God, I forgot your Venus, your Aquarius is in Venus too. And my Mars.

You're very, yeah, it's probably that air sign shit that's in your chart that's good. I don't have much air in my chart.

So, um, I'm even though I'm a, I have water and like earth and fire, but I'm a, I'm a cancer Venus. I'm a, but I'm a Virgo rising and a Leo moon.

So it's just like, I, I should be more into it, but I think my Virgo and my chart kind of be like, and it's like, I'm a Virgo moon too, but I be hard eyes emoji.

Cause I, I, I'm I said his name again, Kenny, and like.

[52:56] I know he be like this dumb bitch sometimes because like when I first start talking to somebody I'm like oh my god he's this he's that like I'm totally that girl if y'all could not imagine, but then once start start start hitting a fan I'll be like wait hey hey hey hey now it's real quick to the shit be shut down quick right I'm not chasing and if I feel like you not showing me no interest in, all right, pack up shop.

But I do, I'm bad with it. And so I'm like, Oh, he's cool. But we'll see.

Like, I'm very much I'd be like, No, I'm gonna see.

Even my friend Kim, I'd be like, Oh my god, like, he said we could.

Exploring the unknown parts of each other

[53:40] I feel like I do not know this part of you. Yeah, a lot of people don't I have to You might share in the middle with me, but I do not know this.

I do not know this. I feel like Kenny and Kim probably get it the most because they're married.

So I'd be like vetting shit through them.

And then I think of Kenny, he's a boy, and I know he'd just be looking like...
When I was younger, I did though.
I thought everything was great. Like, I used to be so excited.
And I think that's just, you know, getting older and the woes.
I'd be like, child, I ain't even about to get too excited.
But I will hope, you know, when I do meet somebody, I will be excited.
Like, friends will be more excited than I am. And I'm like, girl, I don't know.

[54:32] Oh yeah, like, everybody calm down. We're going to see.
But yeah, I don't know. And now I might be open after the winter.
Maybe I'll just hibernate.
I don't know, but yeah, much like you, I kind of just have been thinking, cause I didn't expect to be single at this age, but like single and not actively dating.
Cause I'm not - That part, and then I'm also, I blame myself to some degree too, because my house is so comfortable and I love it. and I pay a lot of money for it, and I don't want to leave.
So I'm not going to meet somebody here because I'm definitely not doing the date naps, but I don't go out the house either.
So I don't know how that's going to work. I still will take myself maybe once a month, twice.
It just depends. But I'll go sit at a bar by myself at least once or twice.
You do do that really well.
I will commend you for that because you.
I mean, that's when I met me and Elias, because I met them when I did that.
So it works. And that is like a tip. It was like, you know, men are more likely to approach you when you're by yourself versus with another group. It definitely works.

[55:46] I've had a couple of niggas doing that but I just um I've been doing that less because I don't, I don't want to meet y'all so I've been like not doing it this much but if I go like I might just chit chat with somebody but I'll leave it there just don't we don't have to exchange numbers or anything guess what's nice bye that's fair enough too so yeah I'm just curious let us know because, I know we're not alone because usually when you have these thoughts other people are thinking it Like I just saw this whole thread, not articles.
Remember you sent the article to, to the discord, how women and married men are the most happiest people, which is fucking insane.
Single women, single men, single women and married men are the happiest people on earth.
And it makes sense because married men typically not all, but typically don't carry all of the weight that goes with family and marriage. Cultivating, right?
And then single, we don't got to answer the shit. We got money.
We don't got no kids. I don't got no man.

[56:53] Might eat dinner, might not. It doesn't matter. And that's the thing because I tell people all the time, like, I have afforded myself and developed a very comfortable, nice life for myself.
I have a nice house with nice things.
I have, I can treat myself to things when I want to, when I shouldn't.
I can go on trips. I can do all of these nice things for myself. Yeah.

So I don't feel like something's missing.

The desire for partnership and value add in a relationship

[57:19] It's just still that desire to be partnered, right?

And so at this point too, I think it gets a little harder because, and I know it's more than this, But I feel like the thing, I'm not asking for something of a man that I too do not already have. That. So I've never in my life, I have never asked for something that I did not have of my own. So that part is always disheartening when you hear men say these, these things, but.

[58:07] Yeah, it's just, at this point to be coupled, there has to be something, it has to be value add, is I guess the words I'm looking for.

There needs to be some value added here. And again, I'd be joking, like the two income house, it would be a blessing.

I ain't even going front, but even the value add of support for me taking out the motherfucking, let me tell you. Oh my God, Adrienne, every week, every week.

Every fucking Monday night.

Eight years maybe damn near I'm pushing seven years every Tuesday night you know what's you know what's like I'm gonna have to this is so crazy but I hate that shit I hate trash in a recycling with a passion and it's you know how my house is that I ain't gotta go that far but I still don't like it I gotta push the shit down to the curb, I'm too, I can't carry both with two arms. And don't let me go on a shopping order in spring, I got all these fucking boxes, I got a drag.

[59:15] I be having some of these in the bar. I had a drag. The bar would be in hell right now, because if you just showed up at my house to take out the trash and recycling, I would be sucking it off the bone. Let me tell you how I love my neighbor.

I love my neighbor. His baby boy pulls my shit into for me most days.

Oh my God, there's something happening. I see sirens.

Um, baby boy brings my trash. My neighbor does too.

[59:42] And then I'd be like, thanks for helping a bitch out. Cause you know, I'm in here by myself and he will put my can right at the garage door.

So when I hit it, I just like drag it up just like I do. But taking that bitch out is annoying.

I hate it. I hate the gathering of trash, the dumping it in the Big can't, I hate it all. I realized growing up.

I didn't have to take the trash out. That wasn't, that wasn't a chore of mine.

Yeah, I'm thinking my brother must have had to do that shit.

[1:00:14] Or when, when I was young, young, my brother. So it's like, I never had to take out the trash and I don't like it. I don't like it at all.

And this every, it's not like, you know, some days I try to trick myself and be like, Ooh, Tuesday during the day. I hate it less.

No, I still hate it. I fucking hate it. So yeah, that would, that's a value.

The importance of sharing responsibilities and finances in a partnership

[1:00:39] That's on my list of value add if I would not have to take the trash out.

But you, you, you definitely got to pay more than the light bill though.

But if you could take out the trash, that would be helpful.

No, I, and I know we are going over time, but I'm just thinking, I hear these conversations, about like splitting things and light bill only niggas, um, if the women make it more, and I'm just like, okay.

[1:01:11] I think because my parents have been married my whole life, I just assumed the way they did it seemed easier.

Oh, what do they do? So I feel like the way it's always been, my dad pays the mortgage and some other larger bills, my mom probably does the utilities and like my dad probably does cable or whatever, my mom probably does the phone bill and the other utilities and then.

[1:01:44] They, I believe they filed their taxes together and shit, but they like have their money and they together and then they have their own shit.

And so it's like, if my mama into this day, if my mama want to buy her a $500 bag, she can buy herself.

But then my daddy might give the one to, it's just like, it wasn't, I never seen the contention about contention around money.

Yeah, because the big bills, like the larger ones, like for the instance, cars, he's, he's, if there's a car, not I'm sure he's paying that because she barely drives and the mortgage and probably cable.

And so it's like, that seemed very simple to me. Yeah.

And they both did with what they wanted to do with their own money.

It wasn't like I dictate this, or you dictate that, and it just seemed simple.

Because I promise nobody can move in here and expect me to still pay all of the mortgage. I'm sorry, I just, I'm not. So here, so as much as I say that, you know, I can't believe I'm still unpartnered, that is going to be a struggle for me because I, cohabitating and figuring that out.

[1:03:09] I do think that would be a struggle for me because that's how I would want to do it, right?

Like, oh, you have your money. I have mine and these bills will be taken care of like but I also, don't know if I would have enough trust in somebody just to, oh, he did it.

Like, it would have to be some type of checks and balance here, because I can never be asked out.

And I see, and I think that's another difference too, that my parents' first house, they got together.

Yeah. To another house. So it's like, things like that, it wasn't like, oh, one person's name is on it, so if this person's supposed to pay, and they don't, it's going to fall back on it was never that.

Yeah, the trust thing, I've never lived with a man, so. Me either.

[1:03:57] And so to be almost 40 and have to do it for the first time, what is going to happen? I'm 45 at this point and I'm just like, listen, let's do some new shit.

Living Across the Street: House Sharing Ideas

[1:04:11] Maybe we could be neighbors. We can live across the street.

I like that house with the little medium with the Skywalk. Come on, Skywalk. Do y'all remember on B and Mary Jane when she was dating Shaza?

And she got upset because he was like, oh, I thought you would keep your house and I keep mine and we would have keys to each other's houses, but like, we not moving in. And she was like, no.

And like, now that I'm older, it didn't bother me then when I watched it, but now that I'm older, I'm like, I really have an appreciation for that because I would struggle because this is my house.

And I wouldn't put it past my slick -ass mouth for a motherfucker to move in here and say some shit. Nigga, that's my house!

You've never been out of my motherfucking house before, okay? I know me.

Oh, well you can get the fuck out then, like. Yeah, like.

I don't need that. I mean, I've said it to some motherfuckers before, too. Um, so yeah, we would definitely, it would be a temporary situation because we would have to get something together or you just keep your own shit.

And it's funny because I do know an older married couple.

They maintained two houses and they had no set schedule.

But it was like, okay, some should go sometimes we work together a lot and then you need your space.

I would say, I'm going to go to that house or he would say he would go, but they own both of them.

[1:05:35] But they moved in between the two houses to give each other space. I wouldn't be mad at it.

If we got condos on the whole floor and you had one and I had the other, I wouldn't be mad at it. Because I don't want to go to an apartment building or some shit, like, you know?

Yeah, I do think it's something to have in your own space.

Or if we do, if it is under one roof, then it got to be a bigger house.

So you can have your whole separate get the fuck away from me. And I can have my own.

We have to do it together because I don't, I wouldn't want somebody to feel like, oh, they moved into my house just as much.

I probably wouldn't want to feel like, oh, I moved into their house.

Yeah, at this point it's very territorial because I'd be like, what the fuck is that piece of quartz right there? Because it goes here.

Living separately but still spending time together

[1:06:26] Odri, you only get more and more stuck into who you are.
So it's kind of like, yeah, it might look a little different and some compromise has to be made, but I'm not anti -living separately.
And just because you live separately doesn't mean you're not going to spend and a ton of time together, because you could.
Yeah. If you didn't want to.

[1:06:49] Yeah, so we say all that to say, we talk big shit, but we mean that shit too.
But again, value add is the game here with these partners that we hope to have.

[1:07:04] We hope to have. The peace is untouchable, I'm sorry.
The peace is hard to fuck with right now.
Because let me tell you something, when we finish recording we're both going to sign out of this shit and nobody's bothering us.
Nobody. I don't gotta feed no babies. I don't have to put nobody to bed.
I don't gotta give time to nobody, kiss somebody, and that is...

[1:07:29] Some days I just be like, thank God that these things that I want is not my life because I don't have it.
I'm about to go to bed at 8 .30 today. I don't want to, I don't have to worry about nothing but just going to bed at 8. I still ain't ate dinner and dinner might be Honey Nut Cheerios or Lucky Charms. That's all I got.
Or if it's something in the freezer from Trader Joe's or Acapulco.
That may be it, but I don't do it. Weeks that I don't go to the grocery store.
Like it's so, there are benefits to being a single woman because it's just me, my motherfucking self.
Yes. So, yeah, don't, I just, I, you know, it made me sad reading that thread, that's how we got started.
I can't lament on stuff like that too much, but I can acknowledge that I'm not, I'm not where I thought I would be.
That's fine to say. And two, I'm okay with where I am because there are definitely some pros to this shit.
Yes. And then three, still being hopeful that I'll get the things that I want.
So yes, I have not completely lost hope.
I'm just not open right now. Yeah, just right now, the door is closed. Close for winter.
Yeah, I always got my foot in that motherfucker. Even though I'd be like, fuck these niggas, I'd be like.

[1:08:39] I'm not even gonna think like it. I will say I had my period.
Most of the time when I'm on my fuck nigga crusade, I meet a nigga and then it's no more fuck niggas.
But I think This time around it's a little bit different because I don't necessarily feel like as harsh about it, but I just don't feel like.

[1:09:01] Getting to know somebody right now. I don't feel like anybody getting to know me right now I don't feel like going through that process and I'm okay with that I'm cool.

Cuz I think I mean there was a time I enjoyed it.

So I think it can be enjoyable Just not Yeah, I don't hate it.

I just don't love it today No, that's fair I love y'all and we love you and guess what this is my shameless plug at the end of this whole episode I've been slipping out of I'm gonna say shout out to the Ratcheteers who were like you gotta look she got her I am journal my notes about Darius hairline but I'm like I had to yeah I had to create this because Ratcheteers were asking me for a water bottle or tumbler and finally this last person did and I was like well what do y'all want like what's saying cuz I was just gonna make it custom you know I'll do that and they were like the podcast logo put on your website okay I got a mug and I love it because it has the straw and it's metal so it kept it cold and I think this one is 20 I'm not a big one but it's like a little small one and it fits in the cup holder in the car so I like this one but uh that's my shameless plug.

[1:10:22] And any final thoughts? Because we've been, I feel like we did this long because we have not done an episode of so long. Brian and I did the same exact thing.

Because we hadn't done one. So and the movie was done. So we went through the movie real quick. We were like, love Jones's Basura.

[1:10:41] I really thought watching it though it was, I was gonna get a little more. Yeah, I only had like six notes and I was like, wow, that's it.

That's it. Yeah, no final thoughts. I hope everybody is safe and peaceful.

And I just wish everybody the best, honestly. Oh, you're so sweet.
