CULINARY EXCURSION AUTY, FRANCE

AUG 26-SEPT 3, 2017

$4,000 / DOUBLE OCCUPANCY

$4400 / SINGLE OCCUPANCY

SPACE LIMITED

Cooking with the seasons and perusing brocantes is a way of life in France. Join us for a week-long trip of cooking, wine tasting, and antiquing in the most beautiful, lush part of the country.

A typical day begins with a visit to a farmers market or a stroll through a medieval village, antiquing at a brocante or local "vide-grenier", along with a cooking class and a sumptuous meal served on the hillside terrace of Chateau Dumas overlooking the peaceful rolling countryside.

Chateau Dumas is an exquisitely restored 18th century, 22 acre private estate. The proprietor has meticulously appointed each room with a collection of beautiful antiques while maintaining a sensitivity to modern day comfort.

Getting There

The nearest airport is Toulouse-Blagnac Airport.
Transportation is provided to and from Chateau Dumas.

What to Pack

August/September is typically warm and bright. The weather is generally more predictable, with temperatures in the mid to upper 70's mid-day, and a bit cooler in the morning and evening. Skies are generally clear and sunny, the air invigorating. Layered clothing is recommended.

I encourage you to bring comfortable shoes for working in the kitchen, and for walking on cobbled streets.
