

Assistance. Training. Support.

Working with you to end violence against women and children.

At Inspire Action, we recognize that the work of ending violence against women and children can feel challenging and isolating. In addition, we know that providing these services in a manner that centralizes safety, humanity, and each individual's unique circumstances requires both skill and a lot of support. We're here to provide that support.

Here's How...

Supervised Visitation & Safe Exchange Documentation - One-Day Training -

We know many communities with supervised visitation programs have struggled with documentation practices.

What should be documented? How much information should be included?
How do we maintain the information? Who should have access to it?

Programs and communities are grappling with these questions everyday.

Inspire has developed a one-day interactive training designed to help you find the answers. In this training, you'll discover how things such as decision-making, personal bias, and our role as mediators shape how and what we document.

Topics Include:

- Intervening in visits
- Accounting for battering when conducting supervised visits and safe exchanges
- Structuring successful staff meetings
- Decision making during challenging situations
- Engaging the women, men, and children you serve

Contact us to schedule your customized training, or visit inspireactionforsocialchange.org to learn more. We look forward to supporting you!

OVW Grantees may request to use their OVW set-aside training funds to cover the expenses to request training and technical assistance from Inspire Action for Social Change.*

Together we can create long-lasting change.

For more information or to find out how you can take advantage of our specialized training and support, email us at info@inspireactionforsocialchange.org

More information can also be found on our website www.inspireactionforsocialchange.org