4. 2017 Point-in-Time Report: Preliminary Data – Joint Office of Homeless Services Staff Our community conducted an annual survey of people who were sleeping on our streets or in temporary shelter on the night of February 22 nd , 2017 across Multnomah County. The final report is still being compiled but this will be an opportunity for an update on any preliminary findings. For access to previous Point in Time Reports you can visit http://ahomeforeveryone.net/point-in-time-counts/	2:45-3:15
5. Coordinated Access Overview – Erin Pidot, Joint Office of Homeless Services There are local coordinated access processes in place for four sub-populations of people experiencing homelessness in Multnomah County: adults without children, families with children, unaccompanied youth and households fleeing domestic violence. Coordinated Access for Adults was piloted by the HOPE Collaborative and Project Haven starting in July 2015 and is expanding in summer 2017 to include all Permanent Supportive Housing projects that are funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) through the Continuum of Care (CoC) program. Other housing resources will be incorporated into this system in the near future. More information about Multnomah County’s Coordinated Access system is available at http://ahomeforeveryone.net/coordinatedaccess	3:15-3:45

Commitment to Racial Equity (From “A Home for Everyone”)

Portland prides itself in being a wonderful place to call home. Yet despite our city’s strengths, every resident does not experience the same access and resources to secure safe, stable housing. Nearly half (45%) of those experiencing homelessness are people of color, although they comprise only 29% percent of Multnomah County’s total population¹. The Home for Everyone Coordinating Board is committed to promoting and ensuring racially equitable access and outcomes in housing and services. This includes using an equity lens to inform and guide our planning, policies, programs and decisions.

What is a Racial Equity Lens?

A racial equity lens is a set of questions we ask ourselves when we are planning, developing or evaluating a policy, program or decision. It helps us assess if we are taking in the perspectives of the racially diverse people and communities we intend to serve, and whether our policies and programs are resulting in equitable or inequitable outcomes. An equity lens helps us see where challenges and opportunities exist, so that we can make intentional steps to ensure more equitable outcomes for all individuals and communities.

Racial Equity Lens Tool²

1. What is the policy, program or decision under review?
2. What group(s) experience disparities related to this policy, program or decision? Are they at the table? (If not, why?)
3. How might the policy, program or decision affect the group(s)? How might it be perceived by the group(s)?
4. Does the policy, program or decision improve, worsen, or make no change to existing disparities? Please elaborate. Does it result in a systemic change that addresses institutional racism³?
5. Does the policy, program or decision produce any intentional benefits or unintended consequences for the affected group(s)?
6. Based on the above responses, what are possible revisions to the policy, program or decision under review?
7. What next step is recommended and how will it be advanced?
