

Creative Writing Prompts

Joan Didion once said, "I don't know what I think until I write it down." Writing is a great way to gain clarity on what you think, feel, and desire for your life. As you go through these twenty prompts, take the focus off of writing the perfect response. Instead, allow yourself to be open and pour your heart onto the pages of your journal.

The steam from her cup slowly faded away...

The twinkle in her eye lets me know...

Every time I hear the sound of rain...

When he touches me, I...

I can't believe how much...

I need to give myself more grace when I...

I grew up thinking I'd...

Life has taught me that...

I know I'm not perfect, but I think I do a pretty good job at...

I'm so glad I haven't received everything I asked for because...

As he sat on the floor, moving his fingers across each puzzle piece...

She bathed in the warmth of the sun as...

He smiled from ear to ear after learning...

When the smoke screen fades, the truth will reveal...

She cried, not because she was in pain, but because she finally...

He held a letter in the palm of his tiny hands as his mother...

When I feel like all hope is gone, I...

I believe in...

There's nothing quite like...

I can choose to be negative or hopeful. I choose...

I hope you've enjoyed these writing prompts, and I hope you continue to explore your truths and stretch your creativity. For more inspiration, be on the lookout for the next Write.Reflect.Create writing prompt challenge, beginning October 2017.

Joyfully,

A handwritten signature in a cursive style, appearing to be the letter 'J' followed by a period.