Think to Read & Write

with a critical thinking coach from MIT

Great readers think. Great writers communicate.

Do your children have trouble summarizing what they just read? Do they have trouble conveying relevant information in verbal or written communication?

Comprehension and articulation go hand-in-hand with effective reading, writing, and speaking. Grammar and spelling are just parts of the challenge. In this program, students read from their favorite topics to increase their comfort and love for reading. Through activities, discussions and connecting the topics to our lives, students learn to prioritize information and communicate.

Sample materials and topics:

- News on the latest STEM topics – learn STEM at the same time!
- Short stories – experience different perspectives and spark creativity!
- Favorite songs – read, write and sing!

Each session consists of maximum 6 students and the curriculum is exclusively customized based on the group's interests.

WHEN: Based on most families' convenience (September 2016 to June 2017)

The curriculum is throughout the school year, monthly fee $125. Terms and policy apply.
