

Le Feu de l'Eau achieves this graded effect by tumbling dye and hot soy wax together under-water.

Palo Santo incense sticks come from the bark of the eponymous South American tree; Incas supposedly used the citrusy, musky smoke for purification rituals.

Birdi's minimalist detector monitors carbon monoxide and air pollution. Bonus: It will also tell you if your house is on fire.

OBJECTS OF DESIRE
THE FIRE STARTER

- 1. Filson twill log carrier, $88
- 2. Cire Trudon Napoléon-bust candle, $175
- 3. Poglia Signature ax, starting at $750
- 4. Maison Martin Margiela Le Bougeoir wax candleholder, $212
- 5. Davidoff Prestige Accolades gilded lighter, $925
- 6. Diptyque wick trimmer, $38
- 7. Le Feu de l'Eau Bleu Nuit candle, $62
- 8. Art of Burning Man by NK Guy, $60
- 9. Revolution Design House The Candlestick candle, $24
- 10. Fornasetti Il Serpente Del Giardino Segreto lidded candle, $175
- 11. Kaufmann Mercantile magnesium fire starter, $35
- 12. Hermès Jardin Lettre porcelain ashtray, $550
- 13. First Alert fire extinguisher, $23
- 14. Cire Trudon Bartolomé scented matches, $15
- 15. Coghlan's fire paste, $6
- 16. Palo Santo smudge sticks, $9
- 17. Milk candle by Andrej Urem, $35
- 18. Messermeister chef's torch, $25
- 19. Zippo emergency fire starter, $15
- 20. Hen & Hammock bellows, $108
- 21. Birdi smoke detector, $119
- 22. Atomic FireBalls, $3 per pound at Economy Candy in New York City
- 23. Christian Bjørn Lighthouse outdoor torch, $100
- 24. Crate & Barrel pewter poker, $169 for a three-piece set

PROP. STYLING BY LEIGH GILL.