

Australian Trauma Registry

Acknowledgement and Authorship Policy

1. The Australian Trauma Registry (ATR) is a valuable source of data about major trauma patients in Australia. Access to the data, and requests for data from the ATR database are subject to strict access guidelines (see the Data Access Policy). Any data provided to you is on the condition that the ATR is acknowledged as the source of the data. The suggested citation is:

The Australian Trauma Registry (ATR) is a collaborative project that collects data from 26 trauma centres around Australia. The data in this publication is only available with the cooperation of all the collaborating sites, and by approval of the Steering Committee. Strict guidelines have been applied to its use. The authors extend their thanks to all collaborators for the provision of the data.

2. Where the interpretation of ATR data is central to the data request, it is expected that at least one researcher or member of the ATR team is named as a co-author on any publication arising from use of data from this project. The actual ATR contributor/s to be named would depend on the actual input to the particular data exercise.
3. The ATR data capture rate applicable to the period/s of ATR data provided to you must be quoted with any published data. This information will be provided to you with your completed data request.
4. The ATR requires a copy of any document or presentation that uses ATR data for its records. The ATR maintains a log of all requests for data and its subsequent use to monitor its contribution to trauma research and quality improvement.
5. Please sign the declaration below. Email this form to (Emily.mckie@monash.edu) or post to: Emily McKie, ATR Manager, Department of Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine, Monash University, Level 3, 553 St Kilda Road, Melbourne, VIC 3004.

Declaration

I agree to acknowledge the Australian Trauma Registry (ATR) and the collaborating sites (collectively) and the ATR Steering Committee for the provision of data for reports, presentations, publications and documents as appropriate.
