

BMORE and Teachers' Democracy Project invite you to an Education Organizing Training and Retreat

September 23, 9:30-3:30

Liberty Elementary School library (2nd floor)

3901 Maine St.

light breakfast and lunch provided

We will convene teachers, parents and community members interested in education organizing--in a school and/or around a local education policy issue. Examples of groups already signed up include: The Liberty Village project; BMORE--a union caucus; a team of teachers at Douglass working on school climate; a team of advocates working on a new equity policy.

Our primary goal is for people to emerge with an organizing plan related to their specific area of work and the confidence and tools to follow through. This event would be great for people who are already formed in a team or for those who want to join a team to work on an education change issue.

The day will be facilitated by long-time organizers Dominic Moulden and Betty Robinson

RSVP to rebecca@tdpbaltimore.org and let us know what issue you are most passionate about.
