Tips for your Big Day

A wedding is not a military operation of precision and timing – it's about people coming together and having fun. So here's how you can breathe some order into the whirlwind that is your wedding day.

An Usher: Have someone close to the bride and groom to meet and greet, guide guests to where they can leave presents. This person can represent you, while you're off having photos taken, or busy mingling with guests.

Photographer: Your photographer wants the best images of you on this day. Ask how long he will have you away from the guests and what time you'll be back.

Timing: Tell your chef (caterer), wedding planner, and bar team when you want speeches and cutting of the cake. This allows them to control the flow of food and alcohol so as not to disturb these proceedings.

Music: Put someone in charge of the music for your entrance and during the ceremony. If you have an ipod make sure it is fully charged.

Dietary Requirements: Ensure you notify your caterer of these 3 weeks prior to the event. Prepare a copy of your table plan indicating people with dietary requirements – this certainly helps the wait staff ensure your guests are well looked after.

Transport: Our site has limited car parking for bridal party, elderly and pregnant guests only. All other guests must be transported onto and off our site by bus.

Children: Our venue is a working site. If children are a part of your special day we do recommend you arrange babysitters/entertainment for children so you can relax and enjoy your day. Food I Am is not a playground.

Here are some other things to think about: table plans, place cards, table decorations, table cloths, napkins, wedding cake, kids/band meals, guest book.
