Created by the Foundation and partners, The Water Institute of the Gulf begins its work.
OPTIMISM COMES EASILY AFTER A YEAR LIKE 2012.

At a recent board meeting, we reviewed all that had been achieved in our community over the past year, and we looked at the part played by the Baton Rouge Area Foundation. Looking back like this gives us good reason to also look ahead, now with more hope than ever.

Neighborhoods that have long been fraying around the edges are once again being discovered by people willing to make a bold bet on the future by moving there. The public school system in Baton Rouge and the state’s Department of Education are no longer stalled over their differences; instead, they signed a cooperative agreement to move forward together in improving public schools. In a departure from decades of ignoring our infrastructure problems, officials are seeing to it that roads are smoothed and leaky sewers are outfitted with new pipes. Thanks to BREC, we’ve seen dramatic improvements to our parks, and once again children are drawn to the playgrounds, dog owners to green spaces, and tennis players to the courts. Our library system is investing in new locations and enhancements designed to ensure that local libraries remain the community’s clearinghouses for knowledge and ideas and an anchor for the neighborhoods they serve. Taxpayers approved a reliable source of revenue to expand mass transit services, ultimately reducing the time that residents waste waiting on buses to take them to work or home to their families, and eventually thinning the traffic that clogs our roads.

We’re proud to say that the Foundation had a hand in the strides forward taken by our community. Generous donors placed $30.5 million in their charitable accounts last year. Guided by their recommendations, the Foundation granted $37.6 million to deserving projects and nonprofits. One of those grants, for instance, provided $600,000 to Pennington Biomedical Research Center Foundation for building new sources of revenue derived from the innovative findings generated by their scientists’ research. Each of the Foundation’s other grants are listed in this annual report.
Working with a wide range of partners, our civic leadership initiatives staff launched The Water Institute of the Gulf, which is dedicated to finding answers to the urgent problems of adapting to climate change—answers for our own eroding coastline, yes, but also for those facing the same crisis of rising seas in Vietnam and Bangladesh, as well as for our neighbors in Miami and New York City. Here at home, the Foundation-fostered East Baton Rouge Redevelopment Authority pushed ahead with the Smiley Heights learning community, thanks to a commitment by state government to build an advanced auto training center in the developing neighborhood. We continued our labors to realize the longstanding hope for a commuter rail linking New Orleans and Baton Rouge. And we shepherded the fundraising plans of many other nonprofits, each working to address the varied needs of our region.

Of course, we know there is much more to do. The crushing burden of poverty must be eased, and the gains we’ve made in education must be sustained and expanded. Citizens need to feel safer, no matter where they live in town. And all people, especially those on the desperate margins, must be able to wake up each day knowing that something better awaits them.

Indeed, we know something better awaits all of us in this community. Here at the Foundation, we’ve seen the proof through the many advances achieved in the past few years, and especially in 2012. In fact, we have never been more hopeful about the future of our region than we are today. That’s because, in the midst of so much self-seeking in other places, the Baton Rouge Area Foundation bears witness to the many generous people who have taken responsibility for making this region a place of opportunity, and a better home for all who live here.

Donations to the Foundation reach $30.5 million.
Our mission

The Baton Rouge Area Foundation unites human and financial resources to enhance the quality of life in South Louisiana.

To achieve our mission, we > serve our donors to build the assets that drive initiatives and solutions;

> engage community leaders to develop appropriate responses to emerging opportunities and challenges;

> partner with entities from our service areas, as well as with other community foundations, in order to leverage our collective resources and create the capacity to be a stimulus of positive regional change;

> evaluate our work and share the results with our stakeholders.

WHO WE SERVE

The Foundation and our affiliates, the Northshore Community Foundation and the Community Foundation of Southwest Louisiana, serve all of South Louisiana. The Baton Rouge Area Foundation reaches across the entire region, while the two supporting nonprofits have their own service areas. Parishes served by the Community Foundation of Southwest Louisiana are Allen, Beauregard, Calcasieu, Cameron and Jefferson Davis, while the Northshore Community Foundation serves St. Helena, St. Tammany, Tangipahoa and Washington parishes.

HOW WE ARE GOVERNED

Members of the Foundation elect up to 15 directors to three-year terms. Directors may serve two consecutive terms. The immediate past board chair serves as a member of the executive committee and member of the board, as does the CEO of the Foundation. Members elect directors at the annual meeting held in March.

Foundation donors distribute $37.6 million to nonprofits.
$563 million

Total assets at year-end, down from $603 million the year before for two reasons: 1) large grants made from the Future of the Gulf Fund from a $100 million BP donation and 2) a decline in real estate assets because of the recession.

Return on Baton Rouge Area Foundation’s investments in public markets in 2012. JP Morgan Chase and Goldman Sachs manage the portfolio, with earnings available to donors for making grants to nonprofits.

$37.6 million

Total grants in 2012, representing the second-most in Foundation history. Each grant is listed in the grants section, which begins on page 40.

$3.9 million

Operating budget for 2012. The Foundation pays for daily operations from fees collected for managing charitable accounts, earnings on its own investments and from memberships, which fund our civic leadership initiatives and staff. More on civic leadership projects is on page 12.

COMPANION ANIMAL ALLIANCE Despite some initial leadership issues, CAA tripled the number of dogs and cats saved from euthanasia at the animal shelter. Created by the Foundation and operating as an independent nonprofit, CAA found homes for more than two-thirds of the adoptable animals in its care. EBR Parish government approved another $114,000 per year to continue CAA’s work.

GAINES AWARD For his novel How to Read the Air, the Foundation selected Dinaw Mengestu as the fifth writer to win the Ernest J. Gaines Award for Literary Excellence—a foreshadowing of the $500,000 “genius grant” that he received from the MacArthur Foundation later in 2012. Mengestu follows Victor Lavalle, winner of the Gaines Award the year before, whose newest book was chosen by The New York Times for its list of notable novels in 2012.
CIVIC LEADERSHIP INITIATIVES

COMMUTER RAIL  In partnership with the Capital Region Planning Commission and the New Orleans Metropolitan Organization, the Foundation approved funding for a study of rail service between Baton Rouge and New Orleans. Other studies have found a significant demand for the service. The study we commissioned will estimate the level of demand if the train added a stop at Louis Armstrong New Orleans International Airport to its proposed route. The examination is expected to be complete in early 2014. Governments in East Baton Rouge, Orleans and Ascension parishes have assembled their own rail commissions to work toward the creation of this service.

GATES EDUCATION REFORM GRANTS  With a grant from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, we assembled a coalition of education and business organizations to collaborate on the problem of reforming our educational system. The coalition’s recommendations became a critical factor in changes made to state policy, including the new authority granted to superintendents in making personnel decisions, the move to base teacher compensation on merit, and the creation of a single early childhood education system focused on kindergarten readiness.

THE WATER INSTITUTE OF THE GULF  Throughout 2012, the headlines blared bad news for the planet. There is now widespread agreement among scientists that climate change will raise sea levels by more than three feet by the end of the century. Those are the optimistic reports; one especially troubling study put the rise at more than 10 feet in coming centuries as Antarctica’s ice begins to melt away. Hurricane Sandy revealed to New Yorkers what the threat of rising sea level means. But the news comes as no surprise; the Foundation has worked over the past three years to create The Water Institute of the Gulf. In 2012, the Institute began its work with a sober sense of urgency. Standing on its own as a nonprofit, The Water Institute hired top scientists in the field to guide its early development and focused research on creating solutions that will allow coastal residents around the world to adapt to the problem of sinking land and rising seas.

The Foundation’s research on a breakup of the school district prompts dialogue.
SMILEY HEIGHTS After Hurricane Katrina, a new kind of neighborhood called Smiley Heights was proposed by the Foundation. Now overseen by the East Baton Rouge Redevelopment Authority, this innovative plan calls for a blending of homes, offices, retail establishments and generous park spaces—all anchored by educational institutions. In 2012, Smiley Heights made an enormous stride toward becoming a reality when Louisiana pledged $13.9 million to build one of those educational institutions: an advanced automotive training center. Along with the training center, an EBR high school will teach in-demand trades, making Smiley Heights a unique community where education is matched to the workforce needs of growing businesses, helping to ensure good jobs for the people who live there. By 2030, Smiley Heights could ignite the creation of thousands of jobs and revive the surrounding neighborhoods off North Ardenwood and Lobdell. Already, designs for the automotive training center are nearing completion, and construction is expected to begin next year.

DOWNTOWN REBOUND ACCELERATES With financial and staff support from the Foundation, Plan Baton Rouge and its follow-up Plan Baton Rouge II became the basis for more than $1.5 billion of investment in our downtown over 14 years. Last year, the town square opened, and the library system received approval to build a new $19 million branch on North Boulevard. The Downtown Development District remade precious green space between the Old State Capitol and the River Center, then announced several additional projects in the works, including a greenway and bike path connecting the city’s center with City Park and Memorial Stadium. Meanwhile, the Hampton Inn & Suites was completing construction at year’s end, and several new residential projects were unveiled. The Foundation did its part, partnering with the Shaw Center and its tenants to manage a $2.3 million state-funded enhancement of the arts space. Improvements include a new North Boulevard entrance for the Hartley-Vey spaces in the Manship Theatre.

The state pledges crucial funding for building an automotive training center at Smiley Heights, a post-Katrina initiative that began at the Foundation.
The Foundation issued a report by LSU economists that revealed the financial impact of the proposed breakaway school district.

REAL ESTATE REDEVELOPMENT In late summer of 2012, the downtown Hilton Hotel was sold to a Midwestern pension fund by the Wilbur Marvin Foundation, a supporting organization of the Baton Rouge Area Foundation. After more than 20 years of abandonment, the downtown eyesore was refurbished and opened for business in 2006 by the WMF. Now abuzz with guests coming and going, the hotel stimulated the further development of the downtown, as called for in Plan Baton Rouge, by creating hundreds of jobs and allowing the parish to attract more convention business. The Hilton’s success also proved that downtown is once again a viable market, with two more hotels situated there. Having secured a stable future for that portion of the city, the WMF next turned to begin the redevelopment of Acadian Village on Acadian Thruway and Perkins Road, with Galatoire’s Bistro and Trader Joe’s among its anchors. Commercial Properties Realty Trust develops and manages the real estate assets of the WMF.

NEW SCHOOLS FOR BATON ROUGE After state government took control of failing schools, mostly in North Baton Rouge, its Recovery School District pushed to improve their performance. But progress was sluggish. To accelerate improvements, we launched the nonprofit New Schools for Baton Rouge in spring 2012. The Foundation secured pledges from companies and philanthropists to cover its operating costs. Chris Meyer, the CEO of New Schools, and his staff are working to secure $30 million—money that will be used to seek out the best charter operators, draw them to Baton Rouge, and then support them with the resources necessary for success among the RSD schools.
Each of the past 12 years, the Baton Rouge Area Foundation has awarded the John W. Barton Sr. Excellence in Nonprofit Management Awards to three exceptional nonprofit leaders. The winners each receive $10,000. Fund donors of the Foundation make nominations; the winners are chosen by past chairs. The winners are announced at the annual meeting in March.

BARBARA W. AUTEN
Barbara Auten has led Alzheimer’s Services of the Capital Area for five years. During her time, she has secured more resources for the nonprofit, collaborated with community partners and generated revenue through unique projects. Among them is Charlie’s Place, which welcomes Alzheimer’s patients who are being cared for at home, giving their caretakers up to six hours to themselves.

RANDY NICHOLS
As leader of Capital Area Alliance for the Homeless, Randy Nichols has spearheaded two projects that have opened recently. The One Stop Homeless Services Center in Mid City provides housing and services under the same roof. Homeless people can shower and wash their clothes there, while also getting counseling and assistance to navigate the social services system. The center offers skills training and health services. Nichols has also partnered to renovate an abandoned school in Mid City into apartments for people who work but don’t make enough for a home.

RENEE CHATELAIN
Renee Chatelain has been executive director of the Manship Theatre for three years. During that time, she has changed the direction of the theater. Now, the theater complex hosts a greater variety of acts that draw a diverse crowd. The B-52s and The Go-Gos have performed at the theater, as have classical musicians and flamenco dancers. Her service to the community began more than 20 years ago. She was co-founder of Mid City Dance Project and led that organization for 13 years.
The Foundation is governed by up to 15 directors who are elected by our members to serve three-year terms. Directors may serve two consecutive terms. The immediate past board chair serves as a member of the Executive Committee and member of the Board, as does the CEO of the Foundation.

The Baton Rouge Area Foundation provides the means by which donors give to nonprofits. Donors make contributions to their charitable funds and then recommend grants to nonprofits. We manage their contributions and provide them with local knowledge to assist in issuing grants. The Foundation also makes awards from an unrestricted pool of assets. Each grant from 2012 is listed in this section.

$37.6 million
Total grants in 2012, a $10 million increase from 2011.

No. 2
Ranking in our history for total grants made in a year. Grants in 2012 were only surpassed by 2001, when the Foundation granted $58 million, including a $43 million award to build the Lamar Dixon Expo Center.

$317,224,573
Total grants awarded since inception of the Foundation in 1964.
GRANT HIGHLIGHTS

FUTURE OF THE GULF FUND  In 2012, the Foundation approved $28.8 million in grants from the Future of the Gulf Fund, which was created from a $100 million gift by BP after the Deepwater Horizon oil leak. Initial grants from the fund were awarded to deepwater rig workers who were financially affected by the oil leak. Remaining funds after administrative expenses—totaling $82 million—are now being awarded to improve the Gulf Coast. Here are some grants approved in 2012.

THE NATURE CONSERVANCY  $2.81 million for freshwater assessment with a focus on flow modeling, groundwater resource evaluation and integration with a decision support tool.

MARY BIRD PERKINS CANCER CENTER  $2 million for early cancer detection programs, including mobile screening units for Gulf Coast parishes of Louisiana.

THE JASON PROJECT OF THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY  $500,000 to incorporate a hands-on science and math curriculum in Louisiana public schools.

YOUTH BUILD GULF COAST AND INTERNATIONAL RELIEF & DEVELOPMENT  $1 million to Café Climb, a culinary arts program in South Mississippi for at-risk youth.
