From left, Jonathan and Patti Berns, of Pepper Pike, their son, Joshua, and Pam Mascio, president of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, applaud as Hilltop Elementary School in Beachwood is recognized for winning the Kids for the Cure Award Friday at the school. Hilltop staff and students received a plaque for raising the most money ($5,820) for the Kids for the Cure race, a one-mile walk/run for children created last year by the Berns family. Hilltop also had the highest percentage of student participation. The second Kids for the Cure event, a fund-raiser for the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, will start at 9 a.m. Sunday at Legacy Village in Lyndhurst.
