by Jessica Naziri

Jessica Naziri is one of the most-in-demand tech personalities for her first-look technology stories and gadget round-ups. Named as Inc.com’s top women in tech, Naziri is a tech expert, entrepreneur, writer, host and self-proclaimed “chic geek” bridging the gap between lifestyle and technology.

Naziri founded her company TechSesh.co, a lifestyle technology digital magazine designed for women and inspired by tech. Naziri’s mission is to make tech news more accessible and to empower women by giving them everything they need in one place. Whether it’s the best apps, the latest smartphone review, new gadgets, or social media support. TechSesh.co has a unique niche, making technology digestible, relatable and fun.

Naziri has turned her passion for technology and writing into a career, starting as a tech news reporter for The Los Angeles Times, CNN and CNBC.com. Since then, her work has also appeared in TechCrunch, FOX, CBS, Good Morning America, The Today Show, The Washington Post, Mashable, The Travel Channel, CNN, NPR, Inside Edition, Yahoo!, Business Insider, and more!

Working with brands including Intel, Dell, Samsung and more, creating video and social media content to get their message to millennial women around the world, Jessica Naziri is a tech influencer, a thought leader, and is passionate about empowering and educating modern women through technology.
