Feit Retail Associate

June 2017 - January 2018 | NYC

Feit is a brand that sells fantastic handmade leather boots and shoes. As a retail associate at their NYC location, it was my job to help customers find the right pair and to share the brand story with new visitors. Through this job I discovered the secret is good energy.

Tom Sachs x Nike Brand Advocate

June 2017 | NYC

Tom Sachs and Nike teamed up to release the Mars Yard 2.0. I worked at the event as a "space boot camp" trainer, teaching participants how to tie the King of all knots, the bowline. Here I learned: "the reward for good work is more work".

Pre-College Teacher

July - August 2016 | Pittsburgh

I worked with one classmate to co-teach a four week Design focused pre-college summer program. Our mission was to provide a sample of the design curriculum at CMU so students could make a better college decision. Three of our students are now undergrads in the program.

Teaching Assistant

September- December 2016 | Pittsburgh

This was super fun. Two Jedi caliber Professors; Steve and Stacie, taught Studio, a first year class where students investigate and explore what it is to be a designer...The attitude / posture one takes encountering the variety of challenges along the journey of design. My role was to do what I could to support their process of exploration.

3D Lab Shop Monitor

September 2016 - May 2017 | Pittsburgh

The 3D lab at CMU is where design students prototype and fabricate their designs using the standard outfit of woodworking tools as well as 3D printers and a laser cutter. As the Monitor I would keep the space open on Saturday / Sunday. My priority was to keep everyone safe.
