MISSION

The Feminist Press publishes books that ignite movements and social transformation. Celebrating our legacy, we lift up insurgent and marginalized voices from around the world to build a more just future.

VISION

To create a world where everyone recognizes themselves in a book.
The Feminist Press publishes twelve to fifteen books a year and specializes in an array of genres including cutting-edge fiction, activist nonfiction, literature in translation, hybrid memoirs, children’s books, and more.

FP seeks to champion intersectional and nuanced works that spark much-needed dialogue and move the feminist conversation forward. Current editorial initiatives include the Louise Meriwether First Book Prize, created to highlight debut work by women and nonbinary writers of color, and Amethyst Editions, a queer imprint founded by Michelle Tea.

We are seeking political and cultural activist nonfiction that furthers our understanding of intersectional feminism. We gravitate toward voice- and vision-driven stories as well as genre-defying texts. Other topics of interest include feminist dystopia, environmental justice, and immigration stories. We do not publish poetry, dramatic works, doctoral dissertations, or literary criticism.
In essays, short fiction, poetry, and more, writers from the United States and the United Kingdom respond to the personal and the political in the time of pandemic. Marking the one-year anniversary of lockdown in the US and the UK, these pieces consider where we go from here—and remind us that, despite it all, we are not alone.

This Is How We Come Back Stronger is an essential collection for our times, featuring contributions from Fatima Bhutto, Layla Saad, Juliet Jacques, Kate Mosse, Michelle Tea, Lisa Taddeo, Akasha Hull, Amelia Abraham, Virgie Tovar, and more. It provides both an intimate, immediate look at life during lockdown—amid the political turmoil and everyday insecurity—as well as a reflection on what has changed. Ten percent of every book sold will be donated to Third Wave Fund to support youth-led gender justice activism.

FEMINIST BOOK SOCIETY is a UK-based literary organization of writers and publishing professionals.
In 2015 an aspiring young journalist named Shiori Ito charged prominent reporter Noriyuki Yamaguchi with rape. After meeting up for drinks and networking, Ito remembers regaining consciousness in a hotel room while being assaulted. But when she went to the police, Ito was told that her case was a “black box”—untouchable and unpunishable.

Black Box is a riveting, sobering memoir that chronicles one woman’s struggle for justice, calling for changes to an industry—and in society at large—to ensure that future victims of sexual assault can come forward without being silenced and humiliated. With careful and quiet fury, Black Box recounts a broken system of repression and violence—but it also heralds the beginning of a new solidarity movement seeking a more equitable path toward justice.

SHIORI ITO is a freelance journalist who contributes news footage and documentaries to the Economist, Al Jazeera, Reuters, and other primarily non-Japanese media outlets. She was named one of TIME magazine’s 100 most influential people in 2020.

ALLISON MARKIN POWELL has been awarded grants from English PEN and the NEA, and the 2020 PEN America Translation Prize. She is based in New York.

“Ms. Ito’s story is a stark example of how sexual assault remains a subject to be avoided in Japan, where few women report rape to the police and when they do, their complaints rarely result in arrests or prosecution.”

—NEW YORK TIMES
Grace M. Cho grew up as the daughter of a white American merchant marine and the Korean bar hostess he met abroad. When Grace was fifteen, her mother experienced the onset of schizophrenia, a condition that first developed in their xenophobic small town and would evolve for the rest of her life.

Part memoir, part sociological investigation, Tastes Like War is a hybrid text about a daughter's search through intimate and global history for the roots of her mother's schizophrenia. In her mother's final years, Grace learned to cook dishes from her mother's childhood in order to invite the past into the present, and to hold space for her mother's multiple voices. And over these shared meals, Grace discovered not only the things that broke the brilliant, complicated woman who raised her but also the things that kept her alive.

GRACE M. CHO is the author of Haunting the Korean Diaspora: Shame, Secrecy, and the Forgotten War. Her writing has appeared in journals such as the New Inquiry, Poem Memoir Story, Gastronomica, and Feminist Studies. She is associate professor of sociology and anthropology at the College of Staten Island, CUNY.
When Cassandra Lane becomes pregnant at thirty-five, the knowledge sends her on a poignant exploration of memory in order to prepare for motherhood. We Are Bridges is the realization of this journey, a memoir that weaves personal narrative and speculation together in order to rescue the lives of Cassandra’s great-grandparents, Mary Magdalene Magee and Burt Bridges, from historical erasure. Shifting between present-day Los Angeles and the early twentieth-century South, We Are Bridges is Cassandra Lane’s love letter to her ancestors, a declaration of her own story, and a lyrical blueprint for her child’s future.

CASSANDRA LANE is a writer and editor based in Los Angeles. Lane received her MFA from Antioch University LA. Her stories have appeared in the New York Times’s Conception series, the Times-Picayune, the Atlanta-Journal Constitution, and elsewhere. She is managing editor of L.A. Parent magazine and formerly served on the board of the AROHO Foundation.

“An exceptional memoir of self-discovery through family histories, even without official records.”

—FOREWORD REVIEWS (starred review)
For nine-year-old Alejandria, home isn’t just the apartment she shares with Mami and her abuela, Tita, but rather the whole neighborhood. Home is the bakery where Ms. Beatrice makes yummy picos; the sidewalk where Ms. Alicia sells flowers with her little dog, Duende; and the corner store with friendly Mr. Amir.

But lately the city has been changing, and rent prices are going up. Many people in el barrio are leaving because they can no longer afford their homes, and For Sale signs are popping up everywhere. Then the worst thing happens: Mami receives a letter saying they’ll have to move out too. Alejandria knows it isn’t fair, but she’s not about to give up and leave. Join Alejandria as she brings her community together to fight and save their neighborhood from gentrification!

LETICIA HERNÁNDEZ-LINARES is an educator, interdisciplinary artist, and author of the poetry collection Mucha Muchacha, Too Much Girl. Her work appears in collections and journals such as Latinas: Struggles & Protests in 21st Century USA, Street Art San Francisco, Huizache, and Pilgrimage.

THE RISE-HOME STORIES PROJECT is an innovative collaboration between multimedia storytellers and social justice advocates from several grassroots organizations who work at the nexus of housing, land, and racial justice in the US.

ROBERT LIU-TRUJILLO is an author and illustrator based in the Bay Area. He is the author of several books, including Furqan’s First Flat Top.
Estoy afuera de la pulpería del Sr. Amir terminando mi raspado cuando escucho a alguien gritar “¡Ale!” Es mi mejor amigo, Edgar. Estaba visitando a su abuela en Guatemala, y siento como si él hubiera estado lejos por una eternidad.

“¿Qué me perdí?” pregunta Edgar.

“Qué verano tan laaargo,” le digo, y comienzo a contarle la historia de cómo casi perdimos nuestro hogar.

Se me olvidó lo que quería decir, así que alcé mi dibujo del barrio.

“Mi nombre es Alejandria, nací aquí mismo en Parkwood. Quiero mostrarles que nuestro hogar no es sólo nuestro apartamento sino todo nuestro barrio. Mami, Tita, Julian, la Sra. Beatrice, el Sr. Amir, la Sra. Alicia, Duende… somos como una familia grande, y queremos quedarnos aquí. Como dice mi Tita, todos debemos de tener un lugar que podamos decir que es nuestro hogar, no importa cuánto dinero tengamos. Espero que puedan hacer una ley sobre eso.”

Cuando terminé, vi que Mami estaba llorando y sonriendo a la vez.

I’m outside Mr. Amir’s finishing my raspado when I hear someone shout “Ale!” It’s my best friend, Edgar. He was visiting his grandma in Guatemala, and it feels like he’s been gone forever.

“What did I miss?” Edgar asks.

“It’s been a looong summer,” I say, and launch into the story of how we almost lost our home.

I forgot what I wanted to say, so I held up my drawing of the neighborhood.

“My name is Alejandria, and I was born right here in Parkwood. I want to show you that our home is not just our apartment but our whole neighborhood. Mami, Tita, Julian, Ms. Beatrice, Mr. Amir, Ms. Alicia, Duende… we’re like a big family, and we want to stay here. Like my Tita says, everyone should have a place to call home, no matter how much money they have. I hope you can make a law about that.”

When I finished, I saw that Mami was crying and smiling at the same time.

Twentysomething and restless, Skye flits between cities and stagnant relationships until she meets Scottie, a disarming and disheveled British traveler, and Pieces, an enigmatic artist living in New York. As kindred spirits—Black, punk, whimsical, revolutionary—the three fall in together, leading Skye on an unlikely adventure across the Atlantic. They live a glorious, subterranean existence in 1990s London until it is jeopardized by the rise of CCTV and policing.

In fluid and unrelenting prose, Jamika Ajalon’s debut novel explores youth, poetry, and what it means to come to terms with queerness. Skye Papers is an imaginative, episodic group portrait of a transatlantic art scene spearheaded by people of color—and of the fraught, dystopian reality of increasing state surveillance.

JAMIKA AJALON is an author and interdisciplinary artist who works with different mediums independently, but also in multiple fusions—incorporating written and spoken text, sound/music, and visuals. Her poems, stories, and essays have been published in various publications internationally.

Amethyst Editions is a modern, queer imprint curated for the Feminist Press by Michelle Tea.
Meet Margaret Worms. At twelve years old, she’s the head detective of the mystery club Girls Can Solve Anything. Margaret and her three best friends are leading exciting lives solving crimes, having adventures, and laughing a lot. Fast-forward to high school. The club has disbanded, and Margaret is unmoored—she doesn’t want to grow up, and she wishes her friends wouldn’t either. Instead, she opts out, developing an eating disorder that quickly takes over her life. When she enters a treatment center, Margaret finds her path to recovery twisting sideways as she pursues a string of mysteries involving a ghost, a hidden passage, disturbing desires, and her own vexed relationship with herself.

An interrogation of girlhood and nostalgia, dysmorphia and dysphoria, Margaret and the Mystery of the Missing Body reimagines nineties adolescence—mashing up girl group series and choose-your-own-adventures—in a queer and trans coming-of-age tale like no other.

MEGAN MILKS is the author of Kill Marguerite and Other Stories—finalist for the Lambda Literary Award for debut fiction and forthcoming from Feminist Press in revised and expanded form—as well as Remember the Internet: Tori Amos Bootleg Webring. Born in Virginia, they currently live in Brooklyn.

Amethyst Editions is a modern, queer imprint curated for the Feminist Press by Michelle Tea.
A woman metamorphoses into a giant slug; another quite literally eats her heart out; a wasp falls in love with an orchid; and hair starts sprouting from the walls. These stories slip and slide between genres—from video games to fan fiction, avant-garde theater to choose-your-own-adventure—as characters cycle through giddy changes in gender, physiology, species, and identity. Collapsing boundaries between bodies and forms, these fictions interrogate the visceral, gross, and absurd.

“This book is fucking weird,” wrote Brit Mandelo in 2015. It’s only gotten weirder since. Slug and Other Stories is a revised and expanded edition of a contemporary cult classic. Finally back in print, this collection is a testament to the messy anti-logic of queer feelings by a revelatory new voice.

MEGAN MILKS is the author of Margaret and the Mystery of the Missing Body and Remember the Internet: Tori Amos Bootleg Webring. With Marisa Crawford, they are coeditor of We Are the Baby-Sitters Club: Essays and Artwork from Grown-Up Readers; with KJ Cerankowski, they are coeditor of Asexualities: Feminist and Queer Perspectives. Born in Virginia, they currently live in Brooklyn.
In pandemic-era NYC, Orpheus just manages to buy a bike before they sell out across the city. She takes to the streets looking for Eurydice, the first woman she fell in love with, who broke her heart. The city is largely closed, devoid of touch, connection, and community. But Orpheus hears mysterious news of an underground bar, Le Monacle, fashioned after the lesbian club of the same name in 1930s Paris. Can she find it? Will she ever be allowed to love again? Follow our lonely queer, disabled, poly hero in a new serialized novel about disease, decay, love, and revolution.

CARLEY MOORE is the author of the essay collection 16 Pills, the poetry chapbook Portal Poem, the young adult novel The Stalker Chronicles, and the fiction novel The Not Wives. Her work has appeared in the American Poetry Review, Brainchild, the Brooklyn Rail, the Journal of Popular Culture, and other publications. She is a clinical professor of writing and contemporary culture and creative production in the Global Liberal Studies Program at New York University and a senior associate at Bard College’s Institute for Writing and Thinking. She lives in Brooklyn.

—JAMIA WILSON
From 1970 to 1980, the Third World Women’s Alliance lived the dream of third world feminism. The small bicoastal organization was one of the earliest groups advocating for what came to be known as intersectional activism, arguing that women of color faced a “triple jeopardy” of race, gender, and class oppression. Rooted in the Black civil rights movement, the TWAA pushed the women’s movement to address issues such as sterilization abuse, infant mortality, welfare, and wage exploitation. Their revolutionary framework focused on the effect of US foreign and military policy on women’s lives worldwide, declaring that US activists had an important role to play in “global sisterhood.”

Interweaving oral history, scholarly research, and first-person memoir, We Were There documents the essential contributions of women of color to the movement, and will inspire activists today and tomorrow, reminding a new generation that solidarity across difference is the only way forward.

PATRICIA ROMNEY received her PhD in clinical psychology from the City University of New York. She taught at Hampshire College and Mount Holyoke College, and is the coeditor of Understanding Power: An Imperative for Human Services. She is based in Amherst, MA.
What do you do when the world is falling apart and you’re in withdrawal? Disillusioned, wealthy, and addicted to opium, Shadi wakes up one day to apocalyptic earthquakes and a dangerously low stash. Outside, Tehran is crumbling: yuppies flee in bumper-to-bumper traffic as skaters and pretty boys rise up to claim the city as theirs. Cross-dressed to evade hijab laws, Shadi flits between her dysfunctional family and depressed friends—all in search of her next fix.

Mahsa Mohebali’s groundbreaking novel about Iranian counterculture is a satirical portrait of the disaster that is contemporary life. Weaving together gritty vernacular and cinematic prose, In Case of Emergency takes a darkly humorous, scathing look at the authoritarian state, global capitalism, and the gender binary.

MAHSA MOHEBALI is an Iranian fiction writer. She is the author of several novels and short story collections. Her short stories have appeared in English in the Guardian as well as the anthologies Tehran Noir Alive and Kicking: Short Stories by Contemporary Iranian Women. She lives and works in Tehran.

MARIAM RAHMANI is a writer, translator, and scholar. Her fiction has appeared in Gulf Coast; her translations in Columbia Journal and After Cinema: Fictions from A Collective Memory; and her non-fiction writing in BOMB magazine, the Los Angeles Review of Books, and the Rumpus.
In Blood Feast, the complete collection of short fiction by Moroccan cult feminist writer Malika Moustadraf, a woman is groped during her suffocating commute; a teenage girl suffers through a dystopian rite of passage; two mothers scheme about how to ensure their daughters pass a virginity test.

Through brilliantly executed twists and rich slang, Moustadraf takes an unflinching look at the female body, abuse and harassment, and double standards around desire. Blood Feast is a sharp provocation to patriarchal power, and a celebration of the life and genius of one of Morocco’s preeminent writers.

MALIKA MOUSTADRAF (1969–2006) was an arabo-phone writer from Casablanca, Morocco. She died at just thirty-seven, leaving behind a semiautobiographical novel and a collection of short stories. An exacting social critic, Moustadraf was admired for her distinctive and experimental style.

ALICE GUTHRIE is a translator, editor, and event producer specializing in contemporary Arabic literature and media. Her translations have appeared in a range of international publications and venues. She is curator and producer of the literary strand of Shubbak, London’s biennial festival of Arab arts and culture. She lives in Bristol.

GRIEVING
Dispatches from a Wounded Country
Cristina Rivera Garza
Translated by Sarah Booker

Finalist for the National Book Critics Circle’s Award in Criticism!

“A lucid, poignant collection of essays and poetry. . . . Love letters to writing itself, and to the power of language.”
—NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW

In this acclaimed collection of short crónicas, journalism, and personal essays on systemic violence in contemporary Mexico, Cristina Rivera Garza posits that collective grief is an act of resistance and that writing is a powerful mode of seeking social justice.
WE TOO
Essays on Sex Work and Survival
Edited by Natalie West, with Tina Horn
Foreword by Selena the Stripper

“This book and its fierce creators are ready to change the world.”
—BOOKLIST (starred review)

This collection of narrative essays by sex workers presents a crystal-clear rejoinder: there’s never been a better time to fight for justice. Responding to the resurgence of the #MeToo movement in 2017, sex workers from across the industry complicate narratives of sexual harassment and violence, and expand conversations often limited to normative workplaces.

CELEBRATE PEOPLE’S HISTORY
The Poster Book of Resistance and Revolution (Second Edition)
Edited by Josh MacPhee
Forewords by Charlene Carruthers and Rebecca Solnit

“The images inside of this book weaken the stronghold that gatekeepers to history hold over our lives.”
—CHARLENE CARRUTHERS

Spanning nearly three thousand years of history—from the ancient Secession of the Plebs to the 2017 protests of the Confederate Soldiers Monument in Durham, from Sojourner Truth to Naoto Matsumura—these posters pay tribute to the long-standing human legacy of revolution, creative activism, and grassroots organizing.

PARENTING FOR LIBERATION
A Guide for Raising Black Children
Trina Greene Brown

“Anyone curious about how to walk with a child through tumultuous times needs to read this book now.”
—DANI McCLAIN

Speaking directly to parents raising Black children in a world of racialized violence, this guidebook combines powerful storytelling with practical exercises, encouraging readers to imagine methods of parenting rooted in liberation rather than fear.

MARS
Stories
Asja Bakić
Translated by Jennifer Zoble

“These are sly, uncommon stories—a rare mix of the witty and the visceral, with no small hint of the decadent and transgressive. Asja Bakić is a major talent.”

—JEFF VANDERMEER

Mars showcases a series of twisted universes where every character is tasked with making sense of their strange reality. One woman will be freed from purgatory once she writes the perfect book; another abides in a world devoid of physical contact.

Preciado's brilliant book oscillates between high theory and the surging imagination. Every day for one year, and its mesmerizing impact on the body as well as sexuality desire. This riveting continuation of Michel Foucault's pharmaceutical and pornography industries are in the business of creating changed how gender and sexual identity are formulated, and how the longer destiny. Made testosterone and estrogen were developed, biology is definitely no drugs today. Is a key text to comprehend the deep interconnectedness of sex and lascivious sex narratives, and astute histories of gender, Testo Junkie rush of testosterone. Flush with elegant theoretical formulations, same again. The results are spectacular. . . . The gendered body will never be the Kathy Acker, and Jean Genet, he conducts a wild textual experiment. Taking T to others, and instead, in the tradition of William S. Burroughs, is a wild ride. Preciado leaves the identity politics of Testo Junkie

In this penetrating analysis of gender, Paul B. Preciado shows the ways in which the synthesis of hormones since the 1950s has fundamentally changed how gender and sexual identity are formulated, and how the pharmaceutical and pornographic industries are in the business of creating desire.

Meena Alexander explores how trauma and recovery shaped the entire landscape of her memory, across continents and cultures. This new edition, published on the two-year anniversary of Alexander’s passing in 2018, features a commemorative afterword.

Shockingly little work has interrogated Solanas's life. This book is the first biography about Solanas, including original interviews with family, details about her writing and copyright, and her elusive personal and professional relationships.

In this penetrating analysis of gender, Preciado shows the ways in which the synthesis of hormones since the 1950s has fundamentally changed how gender and sexual identity are formulated, and how the pharmaceutical and pornographic industries are in the business of creating desire.
