EDITORIAL VISION

The Feminist Press publishes twelve to fifteen books a year and specializes in an array of genres including cutting-edge fiction, activist nonfiction, literature in translation, hybrid memoirs, children’s books, and more.

FP seeks to champion intersectional and nuanced works that spark much-needed dialogue and move the feminist conversation forward. Current editorial initiatives include the Louise Meriwether First Book Prize, created to highlight debut work by women and nonbinary writers of color, and Amethyst Editions, a queer imprint founded by Michelle Tea.

We are seeking political and cultural activist nonfiction that furthers our understanding of intersectional feminism. We gravitate toward voice- and vision-driven stories as well as genre-defying texts, specifically books about economic justice written in accessible language, feminist speculative fiction that explores the human condition, and novels and nonfiction by queer, trans, disabled, and neuroatypical writers. We do not publish poetry, dramatic works, doctoral dissertations, or literary criticism.

MISSION

The Feminist Press publishes books that ignite movements and social transformation. Celebrating our legacy, we lift up insurgent and marginalized voices from around the world to build a more just future.

VISION

To create a world where everyone recognizes themselves in a book.
In 1995 Alice's mother collapsed with pneumonia. She never fully recovered and was eventually diagnosed with ME, or chronic fatigue syndrome. Then Alice got ill. Their symptoms mirrored their mother's and appeared to have no physical cause; they received the same diagnosis a few years later.

Ill Feelings blends memoir, medical history, biography, and literary nonfiction to uncover both Alice and their mother's case histories, and branches out into the records of ill health that women have written about in diaries and letters. Their cast of characters includes Virginia Woolf and Alice James, the poets Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Emily Dickinson, John Ruskin's lost love Rose la Touche, the artist Louise Bourgeois, and the nurse Florence Nightingale. Suffused with a generative, transcendent rage, Alice Hattrick's genre-bending debut is a moving and defiant exploration of life with a medically unexplained illness.

Set amid the frenzied modernization of late twentieth-century South Korea, Violets is the story of San—a protagonist so unsure, ostracized, and odd by society's ruthless standards that she barely registers as stumbling through life. Following a violent childhood rejection, San is set upon a troubling path of stifled desire and repression. One hazy summer in 1990s Seoul, she finds work at a flower shop. There, she meets a curious cast of characters: the nonspeaking shop owner, her brash coworker, and sexually aggressive male customers. Fueled by a quiet desperation to jump-start her life, San plunges headfirst into obsessing over a magazine photographer and spirals into danger.

In her signature stark prose, best-selling author Kyung-Sook Shin explores psychic deterioration, misogyny, and marginalization, and lays bare the agony of erasure.

—BOOKLIST (starred review)

KYUNG-SOOK SHIN is one of South Korea’s most widely read and acclaimed novelists. She has been awarded the Man Asian Literary Prize, and many others, including France’s Prix de l’inaperçu. Shin is the author of multiple books, including The Girl Who Wrote Loneliness, I’ll Be Right There, The Court Dancer, and the New York Times best-selling Please Look After Mom, which has been published in over forty countries.

ANTON HUR has won the PEN Translates and PEN/Heim grants for literary translation. His other work includes Sang Young Park’s Love in the Big City and Bora Chung’s Cursed Bunny. He resides in Seoul.

ALICE HATTRICK’s criticism and interviews have appeared in publications such as frieze magazine, ArtReview, and the White Review. Alice’s work has most recently been included in Whitechapel: Documents of Contemporary Art: HEALTH and Mine Searching Yours. They are the coproducer of Access Docs for Artists, a resource for disabled and/or chronically ill artists, curators, and writers, made in collaboration with artists Leah Clements and Lizzy Rose. Ill Feelings is their first book.

“Alice Hattrick has found a voice and form which open up new and exciting possibilities for writing the self and making sense of the collective past: I read this remarkable book with outrage, fascination, and immense admiration.”

—FRANCESCA WADE
Combining feminist theories, X-Files fandom, and personal memoir, Enjoy Me among My Ruins draws together a kaleidoscopic archive of Juniper Fitzgerald’s experiences as a queer, sex-working mother. Plumbing the major events that shaped her life, and interspersed with her childhood letters written to cult icon Gillian Anderson, this experimental manifesto contends with dominant narratives placed upon marginalized bodies and ultimately rejects a capitalist system that demands our purity and submission over our survival.

JUNIPER FITZGERALD is a mother, former sex worker, and academic based in the Midwest. Her children’s book, How Mamas Love Their Babies, was published by Feminist Press in 2018 and was the first to feature a sex-working parent. Beyond her scholarly work, she has contributed to We Too: Essays on Sex Work and Survival and her writing has appeared in Tits and Sass, Mutha Magazine, and the Rumpus. She holds a PhD in sociology and is a lifelong Gillian Anderson fan.

There was no easy way for Clarkisha Kent to navigate personal discovery and self-love. As a fat, dark-skinned child of immigrants facing mental health and intergenerational trauma, at times Kent’s body appeared a cosmic punishment. In the face of homophobia, anti-Blackness, body dysmorphia, and respectability politics, the pursuit of “high self-esteem” seemed oxymoronic.

Fat Off, Fat On is a humorous, at times tragic, memoir that follows Kent on her journey of realizing her body is a gift to be grown into, that sometimes family doesn’t always mean home, and how ill-fated bisexual romances could free her from gender essentialism. Perfect for readers of Keah Brown’s The Pretty One, Alida Nugent’s You Don’t Have to Like Me, and Stephanie Yeboah’s Fattily Ever After, Kent’s debut is disarming and candid about her lived experience of intersectionality. It stresses the importance of addressing the violence scored upon our minds and our bodies, and how we might begin the difficult—but joyful—work of setting ourselves free.

CLARKISHA KENT is a Nigerian American writer and critic. Her writing has been featured in outlets like Entertainment Weekly, Essence, The Root, BET, Paper, HuffPost, MTV News, Wear Your Voice Magazine, and more. She is also the creator of #TheKentTest, a media litmus test designed to evaluate the quality of representation that exists for women of color in film and other media.
IT CAME FROM THE CLOSET
Queer Reflections on Horror
Edited by Joe Vallese

Horror movies hold a complicated space in the hearts of the queer community: historically misogynist, and often homo- and transphobic, the genre has also been inadvertently feminist and open to subversive readings, thanks to common tropes such as the circumspect and resilient “final girl,” body possession, costumed villains, secret identities, and things that lurk in the closet. Still, viewers often remain tasked with reading themselves into beloved films, seeking out characters and set pieces that speak to, mirror, and parallel the unique ways queerness encounters the world.

It Came from the Closet features twenty-five original essays by writers speaking to this relationship, through connections both empowering and oppressive. From Carmen Maria Machado on Jennifer’s Body, Jude Ellison S. Doyle on In My Skin, Addie Tsai on Dead Ringers, and many more, these conversations convey the rich reciprocity between queerness and horror from Halloween to Hereditary.

JOE VALLESE is coeditor of the anthology What’s Your Exit?: A Literary Detour Through New Jersey. His creative and pop culture writing appears in Bomb, VICE, Backstage, PopMatters, Southeast Review, North American Review, Narrative Northeast, and VIA: Voices in Italian-American, among others. He has been a Pushcart Prize nominee and a notable in Best American Essays. He is currently clinical associate professor in the Expository Writing Program at New York University.

In the vein of Carmen Maria Machado, Kelly Link, and Daniel Lavery, these ten short stories squirm between the lives we wish for and the ones we actually lead. A tornado survivor grapples with a new identity, a trans teen psychic can only read indecisive minds, and a woman informs her family of her plans to upload her consciousness and abandon her body. Ranging from con artists, runaways, and lost souls returning home, Luke Dani Blue’s cast of characters insist upon forging their own realities.

Surreal, darkly humorous, and always tender, Pretend It’s My Body is bound together by the act of searching—for a story of one’s own, for a glimpse of certainty, and for a spark of recognition and human connection.

LUKE DANI BLUE’s stories have appeared in the Colorado Review, Crab Orchard Review, and Best American Short Stories 2016. Originally from Michigan, Luke Dani Blue is a two-time college dropout and time-traveling Victorian invalid who resides most reliably on the internet. They are also an astrologer. This is their first book.

“Luke Dani Blue defies every expectation in these ten ravishing, razor-wired tales about transition. In Pretend It’s My Body, everything is possible, and yet, life in the flesh proves maddeningly resistant to the pressure of individual desire.”

WARRIOR PRINCESSES STRIKE BACK
How Lakota Twins Fight Oppression and Heal through Connectedness
Sarah Eagle Heart and Emma Eagle Heart–White

Pine Ridge Indian Reservation is home to the original people of this land, yet it is also one of the poorest communities in the US. In this intimate and vulnerable memoir, Lakota twin sisters Sarah Eagle Heart and Emma Eagle Heart–White recount growing up on the reservation and overcoming enormous odds, first as teenage girls in a majority-white high school, and then battling bias in their professional careers. Woven throughout are self-help strategies centering women of color that combine marginalized histories, psychological research on trauma, and perspectives on “decolonial therapy.”

Interspersing personal memoir with radical notions of self-help and collective recovery, Warrior Princesses Strike Back focuses on how Indigenous activist strategies can be a crucial roadmap for contemporary truth and healing.

SARAH EAGLE HEART is an Emmy Award–winning storyteller and the co-CEO of Return to the Heart Foundation, where she works for social justice and the visibility of Native American womxn. She served as CEO of Native Americans in Philanthropy, and founded the Eagle Heart Collective in 2019.

EMMA EAGLE HEART–WHITE (Wanblí Wiyaka Win, Eagle Feather Woman), Oglala Lakota, is a survivor, counselor, and advocate. She has been employed as a psychotherapist, domestic-abuse advocate, and youth advocate for the Oneida Nation of Wisconsin. She served as adjunct staff at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, teaching domestic violence classes to undergraduate students.

A close friend and protégé of Marguerite Duras, Barbara Molinard wrote and wrote feverishly, but only managed to publish one book in her lifetime: the surreal, nightmarish collection Panics.

These thirteen stories beat with a frantic, off-kilter rhythm as Molinard obsesses over sickness, death, and control. A woman becomes transfixed by a boa constrictor at her local zoo, mysterious surgeons dismember their patient, and the author narrates to Duras how she was stopped from sleeping in a cemetery vault, only to be haunted by the pain of sleeping on its stone floor.

BARBARA MOLINARD (1921–1986) published only one book: a collection of short stories titled Viens. Everything she wrote, she immediately tore up, and it was only through the relentless urging from her husband, the filmmaker Patrice Molinard, and her friend Marguerite Duras, that she finally handed over a single collection of stories to Editions Mercure de France in 1969.

EMMA RAMADAN is a literary translator based in Brooklyn. She is the recipient of the PEN Translation Prize, the Albertine Prize, an NEA Translation Fellowship, and a Fulbright. Her translations include Anne Garréta’s Sphinx, Virginie Despentes’s Pretty Things, Kamel Daoud’s Zabor, or the Psalms, and Abdellah Taïa’s A Country for Dying.

Asja Bakić
Translated by Jennifer Zoble

In a dystopian world with no men, women are “rehabilitated” at an erotic amusement park. Climate change has caused massive flooding and warming in the Balkans, where one programmer builds a time machine. And a devious reimagining of The Sorrows of Young Werther refocuses to center a sexually adventurous Charlotte.

In these eleven short stories, Asja Bakić deploys the speculative and weird to playfully interrogate conversations around artificial intelligence, gender fluidity, and environmental degradation. Once again Bakić upends her characters’ convictions and identities—as she did in her acclaimed debut, Mars—and infuses each disorienting universe with sly humor and off-kilter eroticism. Both visceral and otherworldly, Sweetlust takes apart human desire and fragility, repeatedly framing pleasure as both inviting and perilous.

ASJA BAKIC is a Bosnian author of poetry and prose, as well as a translator. She was selected as one of Literary Europe Live’s New Voices from Europe 2017, and her writing has been translated into seven languages. Her debut, Mars, was published in English by Feminist Press in 2019. She currently lives and works in Zagreb, Croatia.

In 1969, in the wake of Malaysia’s deadliest race riots, a woman named Du Li An secures her place in society by marrying a gangster. In a parallel narrative, a critic known only as The Third Person explores the work of a writer also named Du Li An. And a third storyline is in the second person: “you” are reading a novel titled The Age of Goodbyes. Floundering in the wake of “your” mother’s death, “you” are trying to unpack the secrets surrounding “your” lineage.

The Age of Goodbyes—which begins on page 513, a reference to the riots of May 13, 1969—is the acclaimed debut by Li Zi Shu. The winner of multiple awards and a Taiwanese bestseller, this dazzling novel is a profound exploration of what happens to personal memory when official accounts of history distort and render it taboo.

LI ZI SHU is the author of more than a dozen books, including the novels Worldly Land and The Age of Goodbyes, which won the China Times Open Book Award. Her work has been recognized with multiple literary prizes in Malaysia, Taiwan, and Hong Kong, including several Huazhong Literary Awards.

—NATIONAL BOOK AWARD JUDGES’ CITATION

Part memoir, part sociological investigation, Tastes Like War is a hybrid text about a daughter’s search through intimate and global history for the roots of her mother’s schizophrenia. In her mother’s final years, Grace learned to cook dishes from her mother’s childhood in order to invite the past into the present, and to hold space for her mother’s multiple voices. And over these shared meals, Grace discovered not only the things that broke the brilliant, complicated woman who raised her but also the things that kept her alive.

WE WERE THERE
The Third World Women’s Alliance and the Second Wave
Patricia Romney
Foreword by Farah Ameen
“We are deeply indebted to Patricia Romney for helping to generate a record of the Alliance’s pioneering contributions.”
—ANGELA Y. DAVIS
Interweaving oral history, scholarly research, and first-person memoir, We Were There documents the essential contributions of the Third World Women’s Alliance—a bicoastal, women of color-led, revolutionary feminist organization in the US—to the feminist movement of the 1970s. This book will inspire activists today and tomorrow, reminding a new generation that solidarity is the only way forward.
