Sources & recipients of data

The sources of data may include customers or third parties connected to the data subject (for example another goods/service provider who provides services to the data subject) or open-source material.

Reasonable endeavours are made to ensure that data is only accessible by those with a need for access to fulfil the purposes set out above. Requests for access to be restricted in any particular manner should be made by email to dataofficer@mge.gg and will be considered and, where possible with reference to legal and regulatory obligations, actioned.

The following is a list of potential recipients of data (in each case including respective employees, directors and officers):

- Any sub-contractors, agents or service providers of Marine & General
- Courts or tribunals
- Third parties with whom Marine & General engages for the hosting of events or other marketing initiatives
- Law enforcement agencies where considered necessary for Marine & General to fulfil legal obligations applicable to it
- Regulators or other governmental or supervisory bodies with a legal right to the material or a legitimate interest in any material

Where Marine & General is entering into an engagement with a third party pursuant to which data may be processed by that third party, we will seek to enter into an agreement with that third party setting out the respective obligations of each party and will seek to be reasonably satisfied that the third party has measures in place to protect data against unauthorised or accidental use, access, disclosure, damage, loss or destruction.

In the event that any such third party is outside of the European Union and where the data being transferred would include personal data which would be protected under applicable Data Protection regulation we will ensure we meet the relevant requirements of that Data Protection regulation prior to carrying out any such transfer. This may include only transferring the data where we are satisfied that:

- the non-European Union country has Data Protection laws similar to the laws in the European Union;
- the recipient has agreed through contract to protect the information in the same Data Protection standards as the European Union;
- we have obtained consent from relevant data subjects to the transfer; or
- if transferred to the United States of America, the transfer will be to organizations that are part of the Privacy Shield.

Rights of data subjects

Any such data subject wishing to exercise any rights under applicable data protection laws (including the right to withdraw any consent to processing previously given; the right of access to data; or to have data corrected, updated, rectified or erased; or for access to data to be restricted or provided to any third party; or to object to any particular processing) should send the request by email to dataofficer@mge.gg. We will never sell your personal data to a third party.

Retention

Personal information that we process for any purpose will not be kept for longer than is necessary.

Any requests for further information in relation to the continued processing of specific data, and requests for destruction of data, should be made to dataofficer@mge.gg
