An emergency fund is a stash of money set aside to cover the financial surprises that life throws your way, such as an unplanned expense, an illness, or the loss of a job.