“Babel” is inspired by the parable of the Tower of Babel, where the world was plunged into confusion when God changed a common tongue to that of many languages. Confusion set in, and their desire to reach the heavens was thwarted. The work plays on the idea of love language and the often quirky ways in which we communicate.

Located in the heart of New York City, the Joffrey Ballet Center serves as a platform for some of the nation’s best young dancers to launch their professional careers. The Center is home to the Joffrey Ballet Concert Group, founded by Robert Joffrey in 1981, as a pre-professional performing ensemble for young artists selected from the Joffrey Ballet School’s year-round Trainee Program.

In the years since its inception, selected Trainees studied and performed some of the most celebrated classical and contemporary repertoire. This included the works of Gerald Arpino (Birthday Variations, Light Rain), Robert Battle (Battlefield), George Balanchine (Serenade), August Bournonville (La Ventana), Dwight Rhoden (New Work), Africa Guzman (The Stolen Path), Bradley Shelver (The 12th Room, Babel, Random People With Beautiful Parts) Omar Ramon DeJesus (Tip Toe Thru’ the Tulips with Me) Eric Trope (Gazebo Dances) and Lindsay Grymes (Falter Upwards).

The Concert Group has toured domestically and internationally, providing dancers the experience necessary to confidently transition from student to professional.

Love Letter to My Sister

“Love Letter to My Sister” explores both the inner journey of womanhood while celebrating the collective power and joy in sisterhood. It is at once a declaration of love for our literal sisters as well as an acknowledgment of the inherent and deeply felt connection among all women. Throughout the choreographic process, the dancers reflected on important relationships with women in their lives and found meaningful words to translate into embodied gratitude while also pouring their own experiences into the choreography.

In this work, the three dancers are separate humans with their own stories to tell, but they also weave into one another and merge into one powerful presence in the space. They remember and honor their roots, protest the boundaries placed upon them, celebrate the strength in softness, and call forth the divine feminine in each other. “Love Letter to My Sister” is a rallying cry, an action of mobilizing the women around us, a prophesy of a time when the stories and voices of men will not rule the world, a feminist prayer, and an unabashed taking up of space.

ROCK MOVES is the only professional contemporary dance company in Central Arkansas, born in the wake of numerous university dance program closures across the state. Artistic Director Robin Neveu Brown is a proud Little Rock transplant, and launched ROCK MOVES in 2022 with her former university dance students to build an entire dance community in Central Arkansas from the ground up. We believe #ArkansasDeservesDance!

Our work celebrates the natural and cultural beauty of Central Arkansas through the lens of the moving human body with live performance, dance film, community collaborations, and educational programming. Our mission is to share the vital and vibrant art form of contemporary dance with all and we do so by bringing dance out of its traditionally insular and elitist settings and into public spaces and unexpected places. Catch us performing on the steps of the local library, leading creative movement and dance-making workshops in the cafeterias of public elementary schools, or filming a dance for camera project in an historic Catholic boarding school turned organic farm!

MEGAN FAIRCHILD
ROBBIE FAIRCHILD

Excerpted from Balanchine’s full-length of “A Midsummer Night’s Dream,” this is an elegant, classical pas de deux that serves as a dancing break from the storytelling of the rest of the ballet.

Megan Fairchild is a principal dancer with New York City Ballet. Ms. Fairchild was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, and began her dance training at the age of four, studying with Judy Levitre and Kaelynne Oliphant at Dance Concepts in Sandy, Utah, and at the Ballet West Conservatory in Salt Lake City with Sharee Lane, Deborah Dobson, and Maureen Laird. While at the Ballet West Conservatory, Ms. Fairchild was also a Ballet West trainee. Ms. Fairchild entered the School of American Ballet (SAB), the official school of New York City Ballet, in the fall of 2000. In November 2001, Ms. Fairchild became an apprentice with New York City Ballet, and in October 2002 she joined the Company as a member of the corps de ballet. Ms. Fairchild was promoted to the rank of soloist in February 2004, and in January 2005, she was promoted to principal dancer.

He was promoted to soloist in May 2007 and was promoted to Principal Dancer in October 2009.

This season, EDD welcomes Hope Boykin, Marc Brew, and Tamisha Guy for choreographic residencies with the company.

EDD has also produced several evening-length touring productions including “ARC”, a dramatic and highly visual look at labeling and stereotyping; “The Rite of Spring” set to Igor Stravinsky’s iconic score; and “The Light Show” which pairs four choreographers with four lighting designers for a visually stunning evening of dance. During the pandemic, EDD pivoted to offering virtual dance experiences highlighted by a major dance for film collaboration with the Detroit Institute of Art and Zazu Productions. “The Five Tangos,” an original production first conceived for the stage, was scheduled to premiere at the DIA in November 2020. The collaborators reimagined the project for film and utilized four iconic metro Detroit locations for the setting of each tango.

“Anusim” is dedicated to Sheila Baumgarten from her sisters, daughters, husband and generosity of friends.

“Anusim” is inspired by a rarely told story in Jewish history – the 1497 decree of the Portuguese King Manuel I forcing Jews to practice their religion in secret instead of facing the most fierce persecution, conversion, expulsion or worse. The Jews were given a 20-year reprieve, during which they could maintain their Judaism in secret but publicly had to practice Catholicism. They were called “New Christians.” Eventually many assimilated, but some Jewish practices remained as “Family Traditions.” These themes of loss, cultural annihilation and forced conversion resonate with many different populations in the past and even today. Anusim, what is hidden is never lost was created as part of an International Cultural Partnership with Dança Em Diálogós, our partner company in Portugal.
“Anusim” builds on a pivotal dance performed by Dance NOW! at Spring to Dance 2015, entitled “Odisea,” choreographed by Carolyn Dorfman in 2005 and restaged on Dance NOW!. The work chronicles the physical, emotional and spiritual journey of twenty-three Jews leaving similar persecution in Recife, Brazil in 1654 and their journey and ultimate landing on American soil in New Amsterdam (New York City).

This project was funded by Miami Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs with the support of the Greater Miami Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Miami Beach Sister Cities International and the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce.

First Movement:
CREDO (fragments)
I believe in one God, the Father Almighty.
Maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible.
And in one Lord, Jesus Christ.
And (I believe in) one, holy, catholic, and apostolic Church.
He was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate; he suffered and was buried.

Second movement:
LAMENT
If the cedars have caught fire, what hope is there for the moss on the wall?
If Leviathan has been hauled in by a fishhook, what hope is there for the minnows? If the mighty river has been struck by drought, what hope is there for the waterholes?

Third Movement:
RAIN SONG
The days of summer are gone. The rainy season is here. Its showers will gather, then pour themselves, more and more, upon the earth. Grain, wine, and oil will flourish quickly. The clouds will send down rain, and urge the earth to bring forth grass. Seeds and buds will grow in beauty. Voices of thunder will herald: ‘Those who show in tears shall reap with songs of joy!’
Dance NOW! Miami was founded in 2000 by Artistic Directors Hannah Baumgarten and Diego Salterini. Voted “Best Dance Company” by the Miami New Times in 2022, and a resident company at Miami’s Little Haiti Cultural Complex and the Miami Beach Bandshell, the company presents several major projects annually, featuring original work from the Artistic Directors, created individually and collaboratively. In addition, the company’s Masterpiece in Motion series honors the rich legacy of dance through the reconstruction of historic works of ballet and modern dance from the 20th and 21st Century from Doris Humphrey to Isadora Duncan to Gerald Arpino/Joffrey Ballet. Dance NOW! also presents branded, immersive, site-specific performances that take place in museums, galleries and architectural sites called the Ekphrasis Project. Dance NOW! has collaborated with over 200 artists and organizations nationally and internationally including New York’s Limón Dance Company, Dança em Diálogos from Portugal, Mexico City Ballet and Opus Ballet out of Florence, Italy. DNM leads the South Florida dance community with initiatives such as the Daniel Lewis Dance Sampler, which celebrates Florida’s established companies, and New Voices, presenting and mentoring contemporary choreographers from the national arena. The company has been presented in sixteen states and on three continents, from Brazil to Mexico, Honduras to Italy and Portugal.

During the COVID-19 crisis, Dance NOW! led the dance community with the release of the Covid(eos), a series of dance video shorts, relevant to the moment and providing new content for its audiences while continuing its artistic mission, and the company continues to create dance films alongside its in-person dance events. With a strong commitment to education, Dance NOW! has reached over 38,000 children in South Florida alone through its in-school residencies, the World Dance Summer Intensive, the Dance NOW! Youth Ensemble, and performances throughout the community and from its home at the Little Haiti Cultural Complex.

Body language is defined as “the process of communicating nonverbally through conscious or unconscious gestures and movements.” “Off White” grew from research into the meaning of body language and its expressive potential both visual and emotional. It presents a conversation between three people caught in a pivotal situation. The work evolves from an individual looking outward and responding to the dynamic actions of a duet in transition.

LaneCoArts is a New York-based contemporary company that examines the intersection of dance, theater, and the visual arts. After attending Purchase College (MFA/MA Dance), artistic director, Lane Gifford founded LaneCoArts in 2006, to explore movement in relation to diverse creative art forms towards physically-charged dance dramas that reflect critical social issues of the day. This multidisciplinary view grew from experiences living and working in Paris as a dancer and later developed in New York City as a choreographer, intersecting with both visual art and filmmaking. Embracing relevant subjects such as social division, climate change, and technological disruption, LaneCoArts has been invited to perform and teach at schools and universities throughout the United States. The company mission: ignite the imagination and use the arts as a collective voice.

“Personal Perspectives” was created by Resident Artist Jeremy Zapanta, and premiered as a part of TRBP’s 2021 August Series performances. The piece itself is a look into personal relationships and how one navigates through seemingly simple misunderstandings to come to a resolution. Through this energetically charged contemporary quartet, the interplay of minimal set pieces, such as the shifting of the table, introduces new scenarios that the characters (dancers) find themselves in, informing an ever changing exploration of interpersonal dynamics.

The Rosin Box Project: reimagining the way our artists and audiences connect with and experience dance.

Our mission is to elevate and enrich the arts in the San Diego community and beyond through uniquely curated performance experiences that consider the human condition. TRBP is a boutique contemporary ballet company that encourages artistic growth and exploration by fostering a platform and nurturing environment where artists can amplify their voices. Made up of a small collective of versatile classical and contemporary professional dancers, TRBP delivers visceral performance experiences in an approachable and accessible way.

A rosin box is unique to dancers. We have them in our rehearsal studios and backstage at the theater, used most often on pointe shoes to create more friction to prevent slipping. To Step Inside a rosin box is to step into our home and our world. TRBP continues to raise the bar and push the limits of how dance is experienced for audiences and artists alike, inviting audiences to ‘Step Inside’ inspiring community and conversation in a creatively charged world they call home.

Founder and Artistic Director, Carly Topazio, created TRBP in May of 2018 to present an innovative, authentic, and artist-driven view of contemporary ballet in a way that allowed for a deeper human connection. The small team is passionately devoted to their craft which has blossomed the company into San Diego’s premier Contemporary Ballet Company.

The dancer in embodies the spirit of what creates all living beings and transitions briefly into the eagle who is considered the messenger or conduit between earth and sky. The singer brings forth appropriate songs for both the dancer and the dance, as one is performance and the other may be considered the sacred. The messenger, or narrator, on stage delivers knowledge and wisdom for all through old American Indian sign language. They also describe the oratory of the song and dance from a Native lens.

Sewam Dance brings the music, arts and culture of Native American dance to audiences around the world. Specializing in the dances of indigenous people of the Plains, Sewam Dance has performed across the country and internationally, inspiring audiences and sharing the power and beauty of Native American people. AMANDA ASSUCENA
ALBERTO VELAZQUEZ

The ghost-filled ballet tells the tragic, romantic story of a beautiful young peasant girl named Giselle and a disguised nobleman named Albrecht, who fall in love, but when his true identity is revealed, Giselle dies of heartbreak. After her death, she is summoned from her grave into the vengeful, deadly sisterhood of the Wilis, the ghosts of unmarried women who died after being betrayed by their lovers and take revenge in the night by dancing men to death by exhaustion. They target Albrecht when he comes to mourn at Giselle's grave, but her great love frees him from their grasp.

Amanda Assucena started ballet at the age of eight in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. At age 14, she moved to the United States and completed her ballet studies at The Harid Conservatory in Florida. Assucena joined The Joffrey Ballet in 2013, and since then has performed works by world renowned choreographers like Liam Scarlett, Christopher Wheeldon, Yuri Possokhov, John Neumeier, George Balanchine, Frederick Ashton, Alexander Ekman, Justin Peck, Wayne McGregor, Cathy Marston, and Jiří Kylián. Her repertoire includes lead roles such as Juliet, Cinderella, Odette/Odile, Giselle, Sylvia, Sugarplum Fairy, Anna Karenina, and Jane Eyre. Since joining the Joffrey, Assucena has performed on stages all over the world such as England, France, and Russia.

Alberto Velazquez, originally from Havana, Cuba, started ballet at age nine at The National Ballet School of Cuba. He then continued his studies in Mexico with his mother, Adria Velazquez. First created in 2001, this piece premiered in Philadelphia just one weekend before 9/11. Inspired by the enemies that live amongst us, it quickly became more timely and resonant than ever intended or expected. The piece is originally inspired by the choreographer’s travels to foreign lands where he witnessed strong military presence in airports long before the United States adopted similar practices, post 9/11.

Recently named a “Southern Cultural Treasure” by South Arts and the Ford Foundation, Collage Dance is one of the largest Black-led performing arts organizations in the South and one of a few professional ballet companies in the world with a roster of BIPOC dancers.

The professional company has presented thirteen full-length seasons in Memphis, plus national and international touring presenting a diverse range of classical and contemporary choreography from George Balanchine, Nacho Duato, Ulysses Dove, Joshua Manculich, Amy Hall Garner, Kevin Iega Jeff and more.

The 2022 – 2023 season marks Rich Dee’s twelfth with Dance St. Louis, and the sixth season as the executive leader.

On the verge of closing in 2017 due to financial struggles, and under his guidance, Dance St. Louis has achieved 5 straight seasons (2018 – 2022) in the “black” and remains one of only 4 nonprofit dance-only presenters in the United States. In addition, Mr. Dee has led Dance St. Louis through the Covid-19 pandemic overcoming significant challenges as the result of cancelled shows.

During his tenure at Dance St. Louis, Mr. Dee has raised millions in philanthropic support to present the talents of more than 4,000 artists and 300 professional dance companies from across the globe to our city. In addition, he led the efforts to secure more than $1 million to commission 25 world premieres exclusively for St. Louis-based dance companies in partnership with world-renowned choreographers, to grow artistically, increase exposure for their company, and elevate our city’s dance landscape.

He is credited with the creation of An Evening of Ballet Stars showcasing principal dancers from some of America’s most iconic and prestigious ballet companies; he reimaged the SPRING TO DANCE Festival under The Big Top circus tent at a time when indoor theaters were shuttered due to the pandemic; and through his leadership, St. Louis remains home to one of the most celebrated dance festivals in the Midwest region, SPRING TO DANCE.

Mr. Dee’s nonprofit experience spans 27 years with missions focused on the arts, animal welfare, humanitarian efforts and healthcare. He has raised more than $100 million in his career and has held executive positions with major non-profits that include the Humane Society of Missouri, one of the largest and oldest animal welfare organizations in the country, during a successful $11 million capital campaign; the American Red Cross, most notably during 9/11; and Cancer Support Community/Gilda's Club, the largest professionally led non-profit network of cancer support worldwide.

He currently serves as special advisor to Ensemble Español Spanish Dance Theater in Chicago, previously serving as Vice Chair of the Board and Executive Board Member for five seasons. Mr. Dee also serves as Board Vice President of the Dielmann-Kaiser House Foundation in St. Louis, focused on preserving the historic collection of furniture, fixtures and objects as well as original artwork by artist, sculptor, and master gardener Robert Dielmann. The Dielmann-Kaiser House is a historic 1883 three-story Victorian-style home located in the Dutchtown neighborhood of south St. Louis city.

Since 1995, Mr. Dee has been an active member of the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP), serving as an Executive Board Member for nearly ten years. In 2000, Mr. Dee was one of only eight nonprofit leaders to serve on the Executive Host Committee for AFP International Conference on Fundraising held in St. Louis, the largest conference on fundraising in the world, setting a record that year with over 4,000 attendees. He has had the honor to work with Bob Costas, the late Beverly Sills, and other prominent figures in sports, media, and the arts and entertainment industry.

Prior to his nonprofit career, he was with FleishmanHillard, and mentored by civic icons Ruth K. Jacobson and Al Kerth. While at FleishmanHillard, he worked with clients such as Anheuser-Busch, AT&T, Hyatt, McDonalds, St. Louis Rams, St. Louis Science Center, and Walmart.

Mr. Dee is a graduate of Missouri State University with a bachelor’s degree in electronic media and journalism. He was raised in the St. Louis Hills neighborhood and graduated from St. Gabriel the Archangel and St. Mary’s High School.
Michael Uthoff was born in Chile to the founders of the Chilean National Ballet, Ernst Uthoff and Lola Botka, who were both members of the original Ballet Jooss. Uthoff arrived in NYC to study dance at The School of American Ballet, The Martha Graham School of Contemporary Dance and The Juilliard School of Music.

Soon after his arrival, he became a soloist with the José Limón Dance Company. Uthoff was also an original member of the American Dance Company, which opened the State Theatre at Lincoln Center, in which he danced leading roles in works by Jose Limon, Donald McKayle and Anna Sokolow. He then joined the Joffrey Ballet as a principal dancer and later joined the First Chamber Dance Company of NY touring the USA, Latin America and Eastern Europe.

He was among the first faculty members at SUNY Purchase and founded and developed the Hartford Ballet, taking it to national prominence where it served as a framework for companies around the country to follow. His tenure culminated with tours of China and Latin America. Uthoff continued his career as the artistic director of Ballet Arizona and the Ballet Estable del Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires, Argentina. In 2006, he accepted the post of artistic and executive director of Dance St. Louis and continued the presentation of quality dance performances while developing programs that enhanced the local dance community and thrilled audiences. Spring to Dance and New Dance Horizons were introduced to its season while an intensive dance education program was developed with inner city schools. He held the post until 2017 and later returned to Dance St. Louis as the artistic director in 2020.

He has taught at the university level and in dance schools throughout the country. He guest lectured at UMSL’s dance department and became a member of the faculty at Webster University in 2010.
