WHAT IS EARLY INTERVENTION AND HOW WILL IT HELP YOU IMPROVE YOUR CHILD’S EDUCATION?

Early intervention, early learning or early care is a group of techniques for developing the skills and abilities of children in early childhood.

The purpose of these interventions is to expose children to independent living both inside and outside the family, developing self-taught behavior, enabling children to enter new environments at their own pace, but at the level corresponding to their chronological age. For DREAM, starting early is a priority. We believe that quality training for parents and their children in early childhood is fundamental to the development of children.

WHAT IS PARENT EDUCATION?

Parents Education is an intensive interactive program inspired by the Montessori method, for parents and guardians with children between 18 months and 3 years of age. It focuses on the development of four skills: movement, communication, independence, and self-discipline. The program provides Dominican parents with techniques that can be “achievable and replicable” in their homes and especially increase further development of their children.

WHAT DOES THE PROGRAM PROVIDE?

The program consists of 12 theoretical intervention practice sessions for parents and children, focused on the development of the child’s basic skills. It creates an environment of collaboration between parents and children. The program is participatory, fun and communicative while reinforcing independence, the approach to purposeful work and autonomy of the child.

Its purpose:
• To develop the child’s independence.
• Encourage parent-child relationship.
• Develop a collaborative environment at home.

The program has been successfully taught in over four communities in the north and east, including Cabarete, Caraballo, La Libertad and San Pedro de Macorís.
