WHY WE DREAM BIG

The Challenge
Many youth in the Dominican Republic are unable to reach their full potential due to low levels of education and high levels of poverty: Dominican students have the lowest educational outcomes in Latin America and more than one-third of children in the country live in families that survive on less than $5 per day per family member.

Our Approach
DREAM provides Dominican children and youth living in poverty with access to high quality education and development opportunities, enabling them to enjoy productive, healthy and educated lives.

Our DREAM
All children and youth in the Dominican Republic have equal opportunities to learn and realize their full potential through transformative education programs that combat the effects of poverty.

We believe that learning changes lives. Our programs extend from early childhood through young adulthood, empowering at-risk children and youth to create a better future for themselves and their families through high quality education, youth development, and community enrichment.

We ensure successful results through careful analysis, a commitment to learning, and continuous improvement. Our innovative approach effectively addresses local needs and can be replicated throughout high poverty global communities.

OUR IMPACT
The DREAM Project provides more than 800,000 hours of quality education to more than 7,500 children through 14 different programs across 27 communities in the Dominican Republic.
Legal identity documents are taken for granted by many of us, but if you live in poverty, they can make all the difference. In the Dominican Republic, nearly one in five children under five years of age do not have a birth certificate. The Luceros Documentation Program has already helped over 250 individuals and families ensure that a lack of legal documentation does not deprive their children of the education and services so important to breaking the cycle of poverty.

New parents always need help, but especially when it comes to developing key skills essential to nurture their 0 to 3 year olds. The School for Parents teaches parents evidence-based child development strategies, fostering active parent involvement and ensuring children are ready to learn from day one, before they step into the classroom.

If traditional methodology has ranked the Dominican Republic last in academic performance in Latin America, shouldn’t we try something more effective? The Montessori Early Childhood Education Program uses proven Montessori methods to foster classroom learning, independence, and age-appropriate development through active discovery.

Let’s get their attention. Music Education and Literacy are highly effective in engaging young learners and stimulating brain development. DREAM begins teaching these innovative programs early, so our young learners have access to new, fun, programs.

Did you know that over 85% of our brains develop before 5 years of age, but just a fraction of education spending is put into these formative years? We believe that starting early provides the best educational foundation for a lifetime, and love, of learning.
The most vulnerable years for Dominican youth are earlier than you might think. Early pregnancy, crime, dropping out - these are all issues we have to confront before the teenage years. DREAM’s primary education programs generate a love for learning among students, specifically those struggling to learn, motivating them to stay in school, make responsible decisions and achieve better academic results.

When less than 11% of students are on grade level in reading and math according to UNESCO, innovative change is needed. The Young Stars Program supports students within the public schools, providing intensive reading instruction to students who are behind grade-level standards during the school day.

As DREAM continues to grow, along with our research, we have discovered that the long summer break has a profoundly negative impact on already low literacy rates and academic achievement. Our Summer Schools and Camps target students who are most at risk of dropping out, increasing their potential to graduate from primary school and finding new, innovative ways to learn.

Reading is the cornerstone of education and low literacy rates are a reflection of poorly performing education systems. The vast majority of Dominican communities do not have access to the books or libraries necessary to create a culture of reading. Our Community Libraries host literacy programs in public schools and community centers such as our LitClubs, which engage adolescents in book clubs encouraging them not only to read but to build positive relationships with their peers and community.

What role does the teacher have in all this? All research shows that an inspired teacher is key to changing educational outcomes. Our Teacher Training Program, Futuros, and our Summer Camp Teacher Training equips current teachers and education students with the tools and strategies necessary to provide quality education in the public schools.

Early pregnancy, criminal activity, dropping out, poor decision making...adolescence in the Dominican Republic and the decisions made at this vital stage can impact a young life forever. Life skills, academic support, healthy decision-making, job training, and cultural enrichment are proven to help youth overcome this complicated step towards adulthood.

Why does the Dominican Republic have the highest teen pregnancy rate in Latin America? Unplanned pregnancy and risky sexual behavior are a direct result of a lack of knowledge about sexual health and relationships. The Deportes para la Vida, Única and Luchadores por el Cambio programs work with groups of youth and adolescent males and females using sports, games, and peer to peer youth leadership to encourage healthy decision-making.

High drop-out rates and a lack of key skills have led to a disproportionate number of out of school and unemployed youth. The A Ganar program equips youth with job training, life skills, and the entrepreneurial abilities necessary to secure a job or return to school. The DREAM network of partners and supporting businesses offers both internships and opportunities that can keep youth off the streets and actively participating in a future of responsible employment.

Academic based programs work best when complimented by more creative pursuits. The Music Education program trains students in contemporary music and hosts the IAGO Bachata Academy, the only of its kind.

Once a DREAMer works his or her way through the myriad of programs, then what? In collaboration with key donors, qualified students receive 24 full and partial university scholarships as well as a variety of skill-building workshops to help them succeed in their degree programs.

YEAR IN REVIEW

Fabrice Grinda Tech Center
One of the most effective ways to catch up to the first world is through technology. Our tech based courses introduce youth to everything from basic computer knowledge to robotics and coding, opening whole new worlds from within their own community.

Global Connections Groups
The connection our visiting volunteers make do so much more than simple service. Unlike most organizations, we design meaningful, community-based experiences that have a focus on education. This past year, DREAM hosted more than 25 groups, with more than 400 volunteers working in 13 communities, adding more than US$300,000 to those local economies, underfunded schools and partner nonprofits.

Banco Popular DREAMs
There is progressive corporate social responsibility and then there is Banco Popular Dominicano. In a country where most companies lack community outreach, BPD has revolutionized giving back. Our partnership through A Ganar has graduated more than 550 students, with a shocking 70% returning to school, finding employment or both.

Ace, Jennifer And Coco, My Very Own Library®
How do you create a culture of reading? First, you place a book in the hands of a child. Ace, Jennifer and Coco, partnering with My Very Own Library DREAM Book Fairs offer more than 2,000 students the opportunity to choose 10 books to take home and build their own libraries. Literacy activities, visiting authors and innovative workshops inspire these children to embrace books and start on the path of being lifelong readers.

DREAM in Santo Domingo
Our DREAM keeps growing, now offering opportunities in 27 communities, including the capitol. Thanks to the visionary work of Executive Board Member Ruben Gonzalez, we have partnered with Escuela Virgen de Carmen and Fundacion Alianza de Corazon, offering the country’s most innovative early childhood education program.

RC22
Baseball is king in the Dominican Republic, but few of the country’s major stars have an impactful way of giving back. Robinson Cano, of the Seattle Mariners and RC22 Foundation, has stepped up and created a model for future players in San Pedro de Macoris, offering Montessori Education to more than 80 young learners at the RC22 DREAM School.

Mi Mundo
As our reading revolution continues, a collection of our all-star journalists have created a magazine written by and for Dominican readers. Mi Mundo covers topics that impact our local communities and youth, showcasing our editorial staff’s critical thinking, writing skills, editing and love of their home.

LA Dodger DREAMs
The Dodgers were the first MLB team to allow an African American to play, the first to open an academy in the Dominican Republic and now the first to partner with DREAM, confronting the country’s lack of quality education. Thanks to the Dodgers, history is being made once again with the creation of our new Dodger Children’s Book, the Dodger DREAM Summer Camp and the Dodger DREAM After School Program.

DREAM Saturdays and Public School Partnerships
As the Ministry of Education continues to transition from half days of school to full, DREAM is strengthening our Saturday programs in technology, music and the arts. Our historic partnership with MINERD includes classwork working in the public schools, along with building libraries to empower our new culture of reading. Change will happen hand and hand with our government partners, not apart.

DREAM Scholarships
Thanks to continues support by Thomas Rosato and Banco Popular Dominicano, DREAM offers 24 university scholarships. This incentive gives clear motivation to our more than 7,500 DREAMers.
