

THE PRESENTATION WORKSHOP

FROM BORING TO BRILLIANT SLIDES.

The Presentation Workshop will empower your team with easy-to-apply techniques that help unleash creativity and inspire them to design slides that not only engage an audience, but also move them to action.

Participants learn specific ways to break out of the bullet-point rut, share compelling stories during a presentation, and transform boring slides into memorable ones.

PARTICIPANTS LEARN:

- How to save time when creating presentations
- How to plan the flow of a powerful story
- How to apply the science of engagement
- How to collaborate more effectively as a team
- How to break out of the bullet-point rut

THIS WORKSHOP IS PERFECT FOR:

- Top Executives
- Business Teams
- Managers and Leaders
- Anyone who presents on a regular basis

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR:

Paul Vorreiter helps transform business teams through his workshops across the country. Paul also designs customized presentations for the top professional speakers in the world. His client list includes multiple hall of fame speakers and he has been recognized as one of the best presentation designers in the business. It all started in 2009 when Paul saw that he and his creative staff weren't presenting as well as he believed was possible. So, he researched what made great presentation slides and why great slides work more effectively than standard PowerPoint templates. Out of Paul's research, The Presentation Workshop was born. Today, over 300 people have learned Paul's unique but easily-understood system to transform the look and effectiveness of their presentations.

As a recovering creative director, Paul Vorreiter has spent over 25+ years using creativity to ignite team members, design and build million-dollar brands, and transform workplaces. Believe it or not, creative agencies struggle with presentation too. Refocus your people to use their creative side, and your business presentations will transform.
