

Rimmel London 60 Seconds Super Shine by Rita Ora in Tangerine Tent, £2.99

Sally Hansen Complete Salon Manicure in Kook-A-Mango, £6.99, from Boots

Revlon Nail Enamel in Perfect Coral, £6.49, from Superdrug

CORAL RIFF

Shades of tangerine, citrus and coral are the quickest way to splash out on summer's hottest colours because they work on lips, cheeks and eyes. But if you want to dip rather than dive into the sea of coral, follow Rihanna (left) and let your nails lead the way. Paint them in a blend of citrus and softer rose – the perfect shades to suit all skin tones.

CHEEKY NUMBERS

A summery blusher should go on sheer to show your tan or skin tone below. My pick are bright creams – they might look a little scary in the pot, but they give the most flattering pop of sheer colour, blend easily and stay in place all day in warm weather. These three start off creamy and turn to silky long-wear powder on the cheek; apply with a compact bristled wet-to-dry brush like Nars #23 Wet/Dry Blush Brush, £31.

Lancôme Blush Subtil Crème in Brise Rosée, £23, visit lancome.co.uk

Clarins Multi-Blush in Grenadine, £18.50, visit clarins.co.uk

Chanel Le Blush Crème De Chanel in Chamade, £28

BEAUTY

BEAUTY INSIDER

Summer make-up should be colourful but chic. Beauty editor Nadine Baggott has some hot tips for looking good in the sun

Estée Lauder Bronze Goddess Shimmering Body Oil, £29, from esteelauder.co.uk

Elizabeth Arden Eight Hour Cream, £26, from Boots

SKINCARE SOS

If you keep just one thing in your summer tote, make it an emergency balm. Choose a product that works on dry hands, cuticles, scraped knees or elbows, even on split ends – in addition to chapped, sun-parched lips – and you can't go wrong.

GLOW TO GO

The best way to showcase summer skin, be it fake tanned or naturally sun kissed, is with a shimmer body oil. One of the summer's most-coveted formulations is Bronze Goddess from Estée Lauder. It smells divine and has just the right amount of subtle shimmer encapsulated in a dry-finish oil that can be sprayed onto arms and legs even after you have finished getting dressed.

Jurlique Rose Love Balm, £10; visit jurlique.co.uk

Dior Creme Abricot Limited Edition, £20.50, from Selfridges. Comes in a beautiful red tin for summer 2015

