GW and League of Women Voters DC to Host DC Mayoral and Attorney General Candidates Forum

The George Washington University, in partnership with the League of Women Voters DC, will host two public candidate forums featuring candidates for the upcoming 2022 Washington, D.C. Attorney General and Mayor elections.

GW and the League of Women Voters DC, both nonpartisan entities, encourage informed and active participation in democracy through education and advocacy. These forums will educate the public, answer their questions and be used to stimulate and increase voter interest and participation in the election. The candidates will answer predetermined questions covering an array of topics important to District voters as well as written questions from the public collected prior to and during this moderated event.
