is an historic property near Lisburn
which can host community group
trips, meetings, classes,
workshops and away days.

It's a great place for groups and special events and family occasions.

This restored heritage farmhouse is the birthplace of John Ballance, former Premier of New Zealand and is set in a beautiful rural location about 2 miles from Glenavy, on the A30 Lisburn to Glenavy Road. Free parking onsite.

Our lovely front lawn is a great spot for an outdoor event, or just a relaxing place to meet friends and family.

Our authentically restored 19th Century Parlour will give you a taste of what Victorian life was like for John Ballance and his family.

Take a tour in our newly restored exhibition on the Ulster New Zealand Experience, which tells stories of local people who emigrated to New Zealand.
See our Maori wooden carvings and other unusual artefacts.

We have a large comfortable Function room which can be arranged to suit your meetings, workshops and presentations, along with our Tea Barn and kitchen facilities that can be hired separately.
