

The Experience Effect Coaching

Coaching on the Fly

Managers wear many hats. Ever wonder if one of those hats came with a t-shirt that boldly stated, “Do Not Disturb”? Unfortunately, that’s not in the dress code.

The Experience Effect will teach you a critical coaching behavior that allows you to address performance issues, increase engagement and productivity, and help employees become the best version of themselves. This won’t involve lengthy meetings, performance reviews, or a 34 minute conversation behind closed doors. It will be a 2 minute investment of your time that will yield exponential results!

Coaching on the Fly...where have you been all my managerial life? That’s what you’ll be asking after you discover and master this transformational coaching behavior.

We understand the pressure of being a working manager. There are so many tasks to accomplish and goals to reach that coaching employees fades to the background. We are here to help ensure you coach every employee every day. It’s important. Your employees are the face of your credit union. They are your brand. They need your attention.

If you are overloaded and need an effective coaching approach that gets results, go to our contact page and let us know! You’ll be Coaching on the Fly in no time.

“Our chief want is someone to inspire us to be what we know we could be.”
