

Are you Million Minutes' newest trustee?

We're a young, dynamic organisation working to see every young person given a voice and using it to make a difference in the world. Will you join us? You might want to have your first experience of being a trustee where your creativity and energy will immediately make an impact. Or you might want to offer a guiding hand of experience or leverage support for a charity that already achieves far beyond its resources. Either way, we could be a perfect match.

About the Charity

Million Minutes, a charity that gives young people a voice, was launched in 2011 with the support of Fr Christopher Jamison OSB, Delia Smith and Margaret Mizen.

Our mission is to enable young people to make a difference in their world - to be the difference in their world. We see that too often young people's energy, enthusiasm and creativity is underestimated. They get shut out of decision-making, stereotyped, and scapegoated for society's problems. And it's not right. Inspired by the principles of Catholic social teaching we develop new and innovative projects that help empower young people.

We deliver:

- siLENT, a way for young people to engage more deeply in the season of Lent while raising money to support our grants fund;
- The Celebrating Young People Awards, an awards ceremony honouring young people who exemplify the principles of Catholic social teaching;
- A new pilot project developing a model for parish detached youth work using the skills and energy of parish communities;
- our grants scheme, awarding grants to projects which promote and support youth action and youth advocacy.

Working with fellow trustees, the CEO and the small youth work staff team we are seeking new trustee members to help us develop and deliver our ambitions over the next three years. We are particularly interested in establishing new board members with experience in:

- Catholic Education and leadership
- Charity governance and finance
- People who would be interested in developing in their trustee role, including as a future Chair of Trustees
