Mr. Brown thanked Ms. Jacobson and the Assembly and congratulated the newly elected board members.

Budget (Conducted by VC Finance)

The transcriber of the minutes apologizes that this following section is not going to be in standard format. As attendees will attest, this discussion proceeded rather chaotically, in a manner that strained the collective knowledge of Robert’s Rules and proved to be impossible to transcribe accurate. What follows is an attempt to capture the main points of the discussion in a coherent and accurate manner. As always, I invite constructive criticism and amendments.

As the budget is required by the constitution to be approved by the second General Assembly meeting, and the earlier special election ran longer than expected the length of the discussion on the budget was constrained. Therefore, the discussion centered on the following issues:

1) Was the Assembly prepared to pass the budget as presented without a full and open discussion?

2) If the Assembly was not prepared to pass the budget as presented, what options did it have to fulfill the constitutional requirements while still maintaining the ability to amend the budget at a later date?
3) Regarding the budget itself: what is the ideal percentage of funds to be devoted to the G12 school governments as a proportion of the total budget?

Mr. David Bard and Mr. Carl Lonnberg were among those who expressed concern that the Assembly would not have enough time to properly discuss the budget and feared that amending the budget at a later date would prove difficult because the constitutional requirements are different than the original approval (3/4ths majority v. simple majority). They favored passing some alternate minimum budget to satisfy the constitutional requirement and then discussing the issue in earnest at the next meeting.

After a lively discussion including the aforementioned Assembly members and Mr. Henry Friedman, Ms. Ashley Goss, and Mr. Corbett Brown regarding Robert’s Rules and the constitution, it was determined that the 3/4ths majority requirement for subsequent amendments would still hold whether a minimum budget or the full budget was approved this meeting, so the discussion was ended without a motion.

Mr. Bard, Mr. Lonnberg, Mr. Markus Hill, and others also expressed concern that the percentage of the revenue from student General Fees that was allocated to the G12 school governments had dipped from ~60% to 55%. This concern was based on the dual claims of 60% being the historical/conventional split between the school governments and GAPSA, as well as the marginal dollar being spent at the school government level being more effective than the marginal dollar being spent at the GAPSA level.

Mr. Brown, Mr. Friedman, and Ms. Goss collectively stated that while historically the percentage had been 60%, it was not required by the constitution. Furthermore, the absolute dollar amount going to the G12 governments actually increased by 10%. The decrease in relative percentage going to the G12 schools was the result of the addition of GAPSA budget line items that had been agreed to in the negotiations with the university administration to increase the total general fee revenue going to GAPSA and the G12 schools. They also pointed out the percentage of general fee revenue going to G12 schools from the last academic year isn’t a perfect comparison because surplus money was used to supplement the total budget.

Ms. Suzanne Bratt stated that while she did not think that there was a nefarious plot afoot, the Assembly should consider making the budget process more transparent and concrete in nature for the future.

Mr. Gerardo Benitez noted that the debate over the budget has been emotional, but that the money in question is only about $27,000.

Mr. Danish Nagda reminded the Assembly that from the perspective of running a business, $27,000 is a significant amount of money.

After this discussion, it was decided to end debate and proceed with a motion to approve the budget with the understanding that a continuation of the discussion with the possibility of amending the budget would occur at the next meeting.
The motion to approve the budget, as proposed, was passed by a majority through a paper ballot vote.

Adjournment

The meeting was adjourned at 9:50 pm.
