

The Noyes Museum's CUSTOM
FRAMING
at Hammondon

WHY FRAME?

- Proper framing of your artwork is extremely important.
  - Using conservation-quality materials, framed works will have the best chance for long-life.
  - Custom framing allows the work to be framed to perfection to help accent the specific piece.
- As the owner of a work of art, you are the custodian of a piece of history.
  - Caring for your art properly becomes important not only for your prosperity and enjoyment, but for future generations as well.
  - Creating an image for the specific piece of artwork allows it to hold a sense of belonging to future owners.
- A good custom framer will use materials that preserve the art so that it will have value in the future.
  - Custom framing keeps the work intact while ensuring its best look.
  - Archival-quality materials are standard and museum-quality materials are available to further protect the artwork.
- Artwork can easily be damaged, so framing is important to truly conserve a masterpiece.
  - Things like cigarette smoke, dust, dirt, fumes, light, heat, and humidity can all damage a work of art.
  - Framing can prevent insects from destroying the artwork.
  - Putting delicate work in a frame protects it from tears, scratches, stains, and fingerprints.
- A frame embellishes artwork, transforming it into a masterpiece.
  - Customizing the fit with wood or metal frames of varying widths and finishes enhances the piece - making it a focal point.
  - The surrounding mat and frame can be a choice of any color to enhance details within the piece.
- It is an assured way of protecting and leaving an invaluable legacy for generations to come.
  - Families past and present may be awed by the historical meanings and legacies brought to life through custom framing.
  - A work of art kept within a family can be passed down as an heirloom for generations.
