The Noyes Museum of Art of Stockton University and the Hammonton Arts District present the 11th Annual Plein-Air Event: Paint Hammonton. This competition attracts artists from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia in addition to many talented local New Jersey artists. Artists set up their easels at locations of their choice all around the town of Hammonton to capture the effects of natural light, quickly painting a scene before it’s gone. At the end of the day, the paintings are judged in the Noyes Museum Gallery at Kramer Hall in Hammonton, where First, Second, Third, Best Urbanscape, Best Light and Honorable Mention Prizes are awarded. This year, $2,000 of cash prizes were awarded.

Al Barker, Blueberry Farm, oil, First Place
Michael Budden, Along Bellevue, oil, Second Place
Anna Kuczynski, Hammonton Lake, pastel, Third Place
