On March 30, 2020 the expiration date for Deferred Enforced Departure for Liberians was extended to January 10, 2021. This extension is applied automatically to all current DED holders. This means that your work authorization did not expire on March 30, 2020.

MY EAD EXPIRES ON MARCH 30, 2020. CAN I STILL WORK AFTER THAT?

No. You must have an unexpired EAD in order to continue working lawfully. In order to get a new EAD based on being eligible for LRIF, you must submit 1) an Application for Employment Authorization, Form I-765 AND 2) an Application to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status, Form I-485. You may also submit the I-765 after filing only the I-485 and receiving a receipt number. If you do not do this early, you may have a gap in employment.

CAN I EXPEDITE MY EAD?

Yes. If you are a current DED holder with an EAD that expires on March 30, 2020, USCIS will allow you to request expedited processing of your new EAD based on LRIF. To request expedited processing:

Step 1: File your Form I-765 and I-485 on or before March 30, 2020.
Step 2: Wait to receive your receipt number in the mail.
Step 3: Once you have filed your forms and receive your receipt number, call the USCIS Contact Center at 1-800-375-5283 to make the request for expedited processing.

See the "How to Make an Expedite Request " webpage on the USCIS website (https://www.uscis.gov).
If you are not a current DED holder, you cannot request expedited processing of your EAD.

I DO NOT HAVE AN EAD. CAN I GET ONE? HOW SOON?

Yes, being eligible for LRIF makes you eligible for an EAD. In order to get an EAD based on being eligible for LRIF, you must submit a Form I-765 at the same time as your Form I-485, or after filing Form I-485 and receiving a receipt number.
