VieLoco

VieLoco is the new social dating app connecting people with shared passions in life, for friendship, romance, or meeting up to do things you love! Our focus is sharing mutual passions, from sport, music, travel, food to art and culture. VieLoco has live video streaming, as well you can send real gifts like experiences from cooking to cinema, dining, wine tastings, museum, sports and organize the outings you want to do with them. You can search via specific passion or location. Via our social feed, the VieLoco Wall, you are able to share your experiences and organise events with your matches, like tennis doubles and bbq's!

Nora Lee and Fiona are both driven and insightful business women, and firstly friends, united in 2104 to to fully focus on developing an app to allow users to build genuine relationships akin to their own. To give you an impression of VieLoco, please click on the link so you may see our 1 minute video: <https://vimeo.com/156069864>

On our website www.vieloco.com you can listen to our 'Passion Pod' where we interview interesting people and talk about e.g. their specific passion for sport, business, as well as on dating and romance in the millennial age and much more.

In July 2016 VieLoco launched in London and is worldwide accessible; it is free to download on the App Store and Google Play.

VieLoco is looking for students that want a chance to intern with us, by working as an ambassador promoting the brand within their university/college and London during the school year. They would need to be creative and engaging, and market the brand while also thinking of competitions and events. From our side we would mentor them and make ourselves available to them to discuss and develop their own ambitions and ideas while tapping into our network.

For more information and if interested, they can get in touch with Nora Lee nnotzon@vieloco.com or Fiona fiona@vieloco.com
