Theory of Change

Opportunity

Fleeing from trauma, and seeking to build new lives, refugees, asylees, and survivors of human trafficking are among our most vulnerable neighbors.

As new arrivals, our students face systemic barriers to employment, and often struggle to find opportunities for careers with upward mobility.

Emma’s Torch helps these New Americans through workforce development training and job placement services, alongside social service support, so that they can begin new independent lives.

Population Served

Our students:
- Are recent arrivals from 42+ countries
- Face precarious circumstances, earning less than $8k per year on average before enrolling
- Often face language and other barriers to entering the workforce
- Are ready to begin new careers that will help them achieve their goals.

Program

Workforce Training
- Full-time paid culinary apprenticeship
- On-the-job skills training in Emma’s Torch social enterprises
- Tailored career readiness and placement support

Employability, Equity, and Empowerment Support
- Referrals to social services and wraparound support
- ENL classes
- Professional development
- Individualized mentorship

Short-Term Indicators

Training Supports Placement
- 90% of students graduate after two months
- 89% of grads launch careers, with starting wages averaging 5x pre-program earnings

Graduates feel Empowered
- Students report optimism and hope as they embark on careers that are aligned with their goals

Demand from Employers
- Graduation-to-hire time is 1 month

Long-Term Outcome Targets

Upward Career Trajectory
- 85% six-month job retention rates
- Year two projected salary of $45k

Return on Investment
- 1.4 x ROI in year one post-graduation
- 5x Projected five year ROI

We define Philanthropic ROI as:

\text{Philanthropic Return on Investment} = \frac{\text{Wage Delta}}{\text{Philanthropic Cost Per Outcome}}
