Who is United Purpose?

United Purpose is an international development organisation that supports communities to secure prosperous and sustainable futures. Working in 14 countries around the world, UP's central goal is empowering communities to be independent – to live lives free from poverty, improve their life chances and take agency over their future. The organisation reaches 4 million people every year.

What do they do?

United Purpose seeks out and puts to work fresh, creative ideas to empower the most disadvantaged communities to make bigger change, faster. They focus on supporting communities to improve their lives and overcome poverty in four key areas: creating jobs and improving livelihoods; supporting healthier lives and wellbeing; developing sustainable energy and resource management; and tackling violence, exploitation and conflict.

I'll be joining 'Team UP' and cycling 100 miles in the 2018 Prudential Ride London event. Starting in the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, I will cycle through the capital city before passing into the green Surrey countryside, en route to a spectacular finish on the Mall in St James' Park! It'll be a huge challenge, so thank you for supporting me – your donation will have an incredible impact on the lives of people around the world.

£50 could support a woman in rural Ghana to receive business training, and a small loan to start her business. The ability to earn a steady income will be life-changing for her and her family.

It costs £14 per person for a new borehole to be drilled, fitted and maintained. This means much less time is spent fetching and carrying water – and more time to earn, learn and play.

£10 buys a packet of drought-resistant seeds. If the rains don't come, these seeds will still grow, providing a reliable source of food and income for the whole family.
