Financial Aid/Student Accounts

May-July (Fall) October-November (Spring)

Verification

The Department of Education selects about 30% of applicants for a process called verification. You will know if you are selected when you receive your Award Letter or your Student Aid Report (SAR). Until verification is completed, the financial aid package is estimated and subject to change per federal regulations, and must be confirmed once verification is completed. Verification must be completed before financial aid can be disbursed.

Selection for and the regulations concerning verification are completely independent of Northwest University. The verification process can add 2-3 weeks to the Financial Aid application process.

Award Letter

An Award Letter will be available once our office has reviewed your FAFSA. The award letter will be sent via e-mail. To accept your award package, remember to first read all the terms and conditions, then submit a signed copy to the NPP Financial Services Office.

Your Award Letter will also list any additional documents that our office will need from you before your financial aid can be disbursed to your student account.

What's Next?

- Contact our NPP Financial Services Representative, to discuss costs, accepted aid, and any remaining out of pocket costs after Financial Aid has been dispersed.
- For continuing students, Financial Aid/Student Accounts removes financial Hold once all balances are resolved from previous semester.
- Student completes Pre-Registration Documents, including Master Financial Agreement with NU with the help of our NPP Financial Services Representative.
- Once all of these steps are completed, student is eligible to register for classes for the next semester.
