Introduction

First of all, I want to explain what a glyph is. According to Webster's Dictionary, a glyph is:

“A symbol that conveys information nonverbally.”

One internet definition site defined it as “a symbol or character, especially one that has been incised or carved out in a stone surface like the characters of the ancient Maya writing system.”

A few years ago I received an e-mail from a friend that contained a glyph. The glyph was a small drawing of some type of insect with a wavy line around it. The author of the glyph wrote under it, “Restoring Divine DNA Blueprint.” She also wrote next to it and under it, “Star Glyph to remove Parasitic DNA Mutation that invites in entities and is an energetic link to Fear Programming. This glyph restores the DNA. Please circulate widely and reproduce freely—(Do not Alter) use with integrity. Humans were DNA altered by genetic engineering at the time of the fall of Atlantis and Babylon. A parasitic mutation attached (recessive gene) to DNA making humans susceptible to entities.” I have included a copy of this glyph below.

There was the name, Judith K. Moore, and her e-mail address on the page. I have always been fascinated by glyphs and this one was certainly no exception. I printed the page and cut out the picture of the glyph. Then I thought “All right, what should I do with it?” It said “Use with integrity”, but I wondered, “How?” At that moment I either decided or was guided to place the drawing on my solar plexus. Immediately there was a tremendous amount of activity in my liver. I would call it a level two pain on a one to ten scale. It certainly was not enough to have me running down the street screaming, but definitely very noticeable. This went on for several minutes, after which I did a little energy healing on the area. When I tried this again the next day, nothing happened. My son, Patrick, tried the glyph in the same manner, but did not notice anything. I wasn’t sure what it was all about, but I thought “Whatever it was, I had it, and now it’s gone.” I also thought “Whoever created this glyph with this much power, I can do that too!”

A couple of years before that incident, while I was meditating, I saw a vision of a paper with writing on it. I felt that this meant I should try guided writing. The next day I went out on our deck with a notebook and pen in hand. I did my best to clear my mind. I began writing whatever thoughts came to me. The first page was just gibberish. As I began the second page I received this: “We are beings of Light and we are here to guide you.” What followed was a profound writing from nature spirits. I continued this practice and find I am now able to readily communicate with unseen benevolent guides as well as our Source. Let me point out that I am a conscious channel and do not go into a trance to receive messages.

Following my introduction to Judith Moore’s glyph, I asked my guides how glyphs are created. They gave me a brief review of how this is done. Then I set about making some elementary glyphs of my own, with just some simple words: “Energy”, “Industriousness”, “Joy”, and so forth. These efforts achieved no noticeable results. I then decided that in order for me to obtain such things as joy, I would need to remove the negative emotional baggage standing in the way. I realized the same would be true for everyone.

It was about that time that I received a call from my friend Kathy. She told me that several days earlier she had taken her dogs’ glass drinking bowl out of the dishwasher while it was still hot, placed it on the floor, and without thinking poured cold water into the bowl. It was like it exploded, she told me, with a piece of glass being driven deep into her foot. Although she was able to remove the glass, the foot was now badly infected: inflamed with considerable swelling, painful, oozing, and had a foul odor. Although Kathy is a registered nurse, she knows the importance of avoiding antibiotics unless they are absolutely necessary. Knowing my background in various healing modalities, she asked me if I knew of anything that could help her foot. My first thought was a type of antibiotic herb. But then I decided I would create a glyph and program it to destroy bacteria. I asked Kathy if she would be willing to participate in a little experiment, to which she agreed. I created two glyphs, one that would take care of the bacteria, and a second glyph to speed healing, then e-mailed them to Kathy. She e-mailed me back the next day. “I really think my glyphs are working! I put them face down on top of my dressing, bacteria killers first and then cell renewal. My foot was swollen, red and oozing to the point where I had to change the bandages at least four or five times a day. The next morning, the redness was gone, the swelling was way down, the wound look cleaner, and there was practically no drainage. Also, it doesn’t burn and hurt. Wow!!!” When I spoke to her a couple of weeks later, she said the wound was almost completely healed.

I continued to create glyphs, concentrating on designing them to remove the negative emotions that seem to plague so many of us. All my life I have been troubled with depression and fear. I was sure that removing these disabling energies was an important step on my path. Using myself as a guinea pig, I found that the glyphs easily and effectively began removing more and more of the emotional burdens I had been carrying. Instead of waking up in the morning feeling depressed, I found myself feeling lighter, more vibrant, and glad to be alive during these exciting times. Being very sensitive to energy, I could feel the glyphs working. I created a glyph to remove heavy metals and other toxic matter from the body. My first efforts left me with a headache; but finally I created a detoxification glyph that worked with no side effects. Again, I could feel the sensation of something being drawn out of the body.

We are all a part of the energy of our Source. This means that within us lies all the power we need to heal ourselves and to draw to us everything we desire. Our one failing, however, is that we don’t believe we possess that power. All the doubts, fears and negative programming we have accumulated over the years are blocking our way. We may realize this, but that doesn’t make these obstacles go away. These negative beliefs stick to us like glue. There are those who would suggest counseling to rid ourselves of this excess baggage. Although counseling has its place, it can be expensive, not to mention the time spent sitting in someone’s office while they attempt to dredge out all of the deep, dark secrets that go all the way back to before we can remember. Others might suggest past life regression to delve into horrendous lifetimes of pain and torture. Again, this might be helpful, but when we stop to realize that we have had hundreds of lifetimes, we can see that may not be a very practical answer. Prayer Glyphs can remove much of whatever is holding us back; no digging into painful past memories, no expensive counseling. Finally, we have the tools we need to help remove the fear, guilt, sadness, anger, resentment, or whatever else is standing in our way.

The idea of drawings on a piece of paper being so powerful that they can kill bacteria or remove emotional blockages may seem difficult to believe. We must think for a moment of the power of the Word and the power of prayer. The glyphs contain both of these. The amount of energy here is immeasurable by any of our standards. To those who do not believe this is possible, I quote the words of Albert Einstein, “The most beautiful thing we can experience is the mysterious. It is the source of all true art and science. . . . He who can no longer pause to wonder and stand rapt in awe, is as good as dead; his eyes are closed.”
