ABOUT OUR SCHOOL

Hattie Cotton is a STEM-based magnet school located in historic East Nashville near downtown. Our teachers are committed to cooperative learning, challenging learning tasks, and integrated education. At Hattie Cotton, teachers transform the typical teacher-centered classroom into an environment that is student-driven. While the core curriculum is provided for all students, we believe that it is also critical to provide STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) learning opportunities, character education and exposure to technology. This approach is designed to allow students to think in unconventional ways about solving problems that we face in the real world. STEM aims to teach the “whole” student in order to foster the skills necessary to become academically competitive now and in the future. We believe that Hattie Cotton is an excellent choice for every child. We may be small, but we are MIGHTY.
