ABOUT OUR SCHOOL

Inglewood Elementary engages students through critical thinking, collaboration, and communication in a warm, demanding environment. Our unique approach to learning ensures every student experiences integrated instruction specializing in the Environmental Sciences.

Quarterly STEAM Challenges provide students with the opportunity to design potential solutions to real world environmental issues through literacy, math, science and social studies. Solutions are developed utilizing the Engineering Design Process and abundant technology.

We partner with scientists from Vanderbilt University, the University of West Virginia, the American Alliance for Innovative Systems, and various community experts to provide learning experiences in the classroom, in the STEAM Lab, and in the field.

STEAM is further enhanced through enrichment opportunities including a musical band, art studio, onstage performances, STEAM enrichment clubs, creative after-school care, multimedia Maker Space, and a hydroponic greenhouse.
