Solutions for poultry farming throughout the world

Increase your performance

Replace your OLD evaporative cooling pads in your tunnel ventilation systems.

► Evaporative cooling pads

Did you know that your evaporative cooling pads will not last forever?

With proper care and maintenance, evaporative cooling pads will last for 5 or 6 years.

As time passes, cooling pads lose their ability to absorb water, making it harder to cool your poultry house.

In addition, dust and other natural agents clog the pads.

After they become clogged, air flow through the pads is considerably less, which decreases the capacity and efficiency of the fans, and results in decreased performance and lower return on investment.

INDIV provides replacement pad for all systems, no matter the brand. Normal pads or black coated ones, we have them all.

Regular pads

Black coated pads

Think about changing your old pads today and increasing the performance of your tunnel ventilation systems.
