

AMY ERBACHER

SHOP CART DISCLAIMER

Although Amy Erbacher Skin Health tries to be as accurate as possible when describing our products and ingredients, it is up to the consumer to do their own adequate research into the appropriateness of products for their own skin.

Any reference to medical or health benefits by the use of certain products cannot be taken as a replacement for medical advice or prescription medication or acknowledged as a diagnosis for a specific skin condition. Although many skin conditions are often markedly helped by the use of our products, we do not intend to cure or prevent a skin disease.

All products sold, excluding the SKIN&TONIC herbal tea blend, are for external use only. Despite sourcing only what we believe to be some of the best skincare on the market, some individuals may react or become allergic to certain ingredients. Fortunately, allergic reactions are extremely rare; however, Amy Erbacher Skin Health cannot be responsible for any allergies to products or the unlikely event of a resultant ailment.

We strongly suggest that you patch test* any new product before its continued usage. If you notice any itching or redness to your skin, do not continue use of this product.

Individuals that are on prescription medication and medication to treat skin conditions such as Accutane, may be prone to increased sensitivities and should check carefully that the products purchased are appropriate for their skin.

If you are unsure whether the product is suitable for your skin, check with your doctor, consult with Amy and remember to do a patch test to make sure your product is compatible for your skin.

SENSITIVITY 'Patch Test' TEST: Prior to first use, apply a small amount of product to a patch behind your earlobe for 4 consecutive days. If irritation occurs discontinue use.