A.I.R. Gallery - Celebrating over 40 years of advocating for women in the visual arts

Kindred
Whitney Wood Bailey, Natalie Dunham and Vadis Turner

February 6th - March 2nd, 2014

Opening Reception: Thursday, February 6th from 6-9pm

A.I.R. Gallery is pleased to announce its upcoming exhibition Kindred, featuring new works by artists Whitney Wood Bailey, Natalie Dunham and Vadis Turner. The show opens Thursday, February 6, 2014 and will run through March 2, 2014.

In their works, Bailey, Dunham and Turner address and experiment with the relationships between the natural and the synthetic, the instinctual and the intellectual. Central to each is the question of human existence and limitation: What does it mean to be a human and to what extent can that be represented or manipulated in a plastic medium? Though their processes are diverse, the juxtaposition of these artists’ works allows for a dynamic interpretative experience that challenges audiences to make larger than life connections. Specifically, it forces viewers to rethink their assumptions about women, culture and artisthood in the twenty-first century.
