6-Panel 1-Pocket Wallet

Your artwork should be placed into and fill the panels that have the solid black lines, including the spine. _____

The smaller dotted line is the "safety margin," and represents the closest you should place anything like text or important design elements to the edge of your design. -----

If you are a designer or familiar with bleeds, make sure to extend your artwork to the larger outside dotted line. This will be trimmed away in the production process. We will create this area for you if you do not provide it, but you may incur a setup/graphics charge if your original design does not meet the above guidelines. - - - - -

If you are designing with a barcode in mind, we generally place it into a 1.125" x 0.5" white box.

When saving your artwork to send to us, make sure to leave this template layer turned off or otherwise invisible/erased.
