Ask the children to then the silhouettes of the birds in flight to the static raptors, using their knowledge of wing types to explain the reasons for their choice. One has been done as an example, but with both birds in flight to make life a little harder. Ask children to devise a key to group various features.